NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A sweeping decline in prices, which ran from $5 to $30 a share in most of the issues, and much more in a few specialties, took place in the late afternoon session of the New York Stock Exchange. Final quotations showed little recovery from the day's low levels, with the tape over an hour late in the close. A sprinkling of issues broke through the low levels in the closing market, but much of the recovery in the closing market was lost.

DINNER IN LONDON

Prince of Wales to Preside at Function in Parliament Saturday.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Three hundred fifteen holders of the Victoria Cross have accepted an invitation to attend a dinner in their honor which the Prince of Wales will preside. The dinner will take place Saturday in the long gallery of the Parliament House. Except for the Prince of Wales and holders of the Victoria Cross, the invitations will be confined almost entirely to those who are doing conspicuous service with the service men and with Earl Haig's annual Poppy day fund. The Canadian holders, 14 of whom are already here, while the other 16 will arrive Friday, are being hospitably entertained.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION FILED AGAINST NEW YORK BROKERS

First National Corporation (Mass.) Brings Action in Bankruptcy Court.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against Baran & Co., Inc., a stock brokerage concern. First National Corporation was the petitioner. The petitioning corporation, a Massachusetts concern, alleges that the defendant corporation is bankrupt and demands the appointment of a receiver. The petition filed in Federal Court said that the First National Corporation had a provable claim against the defendant for $45,000, based upon the sale and delivery on Oct. 25 of 100 shares of capital stock of the National City Bank, for which it had been agreed $45,000 should be paid in cash. The fact that such a payment was not made, although Baran & Co. obtained and retained possession of the certificates, was the basis of the claim.

OHIO ADOPTS TAX LAW CHANGE

Under Amendment Property Will Be Divided Into Classes.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—The majority in favor of the State tax amendment, voted upon yesterday in Ohio, mounted to 55-45, with the amendment being carried.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Hoover sent a letter to Senator Johnson today saying that "an accident" had caused the Senator's name to be omitted from the list of guests to the White House dinner last night in honor of Ambassador Dawes.

Mr. Hoover wrote that directions had been given Monday to send invitations to all members of the Foreign Relations Committee, but that "an inadvertence occurred somewhere" which accounted for the omission of one to Senator Johnson. The text of the letter follows:

My Dear Mr. Senator: I was distressed to learn from the press last night that you did not receive an invitation to the dinner given at the White House for Ambassadors Dawes and Guggenheim, to which the members of the Foreign Relations Committee, who were in the city or available, were invited. Directions to send out the invitations were given on Monday and in the hurried telephoning to Senators and members of other details an inadvertence occurred somewhere.

I am most deeply pained that such an accident should have happened, with such an apparent lack of courtesy, and I hope you will accept my assurances that it was due entirely to a mistake which is most deeply regretted by all of us.

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER.
Senator Johnson issued the following statement after the letter had been made public at the White House:

"Under no circumstances would I have commented upon or discussed the incident. In the present situation, of course, it is wholly ended."

The letter was sent to Senator Johnson today by President Hoover through Lawrence Hickey, one of the President's official secretaries. The failure of Johnson to appear at the dinner caused a sensation in official and social Washington. It had been suggested in some quarters that the position Johnson had taken on the tariff and farm relief was the cause. At the same time, however, it was pointed out that the guests included Senators Borah of Idaho and La Follette of Wisconsin, members of the Republican independent Senate group which have opposed Mr. Hoover on both questions.

This morning Senators Reed of Pennsylvania and McNary of Oregon were early callers at the White House but had nothing to say concerning their visit. Last night when Johnson's absence first was noticed White House officials withheld comment.

Conference During Campaign. After a luncheon conference with Mr. Hoover at his Palo Alto (Cal.) home early in the presidential campaign of last year, Senator Johnson declared for the Republican nominee in this statement to newspaper men: "I am for the Republican candidate for President. I am a Republican candidate for the Senate."

Stating that he had visited the nominee at his request, the Senator said, "I was delighted to lunch with him and to chat with him."

Lufthansa Plane Falls Soon After Leaving Croydon Field and Catches Fire — Two Hurt.

GERMAN PRINCE
SEVERELY BURNED

Craft, on Departure, Seemed to Be Working Properly—It Was Piloted by Experienced Aviator.

By the Associated Press.
MARDEN PARK, Surrey, England, Nov. 6.—Six persons were killed and two injured this morning in the crash of a German air liner bound from Croydon to Berlin by way of Amsterdam and Hanover. Three of those killed were passengers and three were crew members.

One of the two survivors was Prince Eugene Schuamburg-Lippe, second cousin of a former reigning Prince of one of the oldest German royal houses. He was serving as second pilot. The Prince was being taken to the hospital.

The machine's pilot was Rod Schlicht, an experienced flyer. The plane was owned and operated by the German Lufthansa Co. When it took off from Croydon, everything seemed in proper order, according to an Imperial Airways official.

When the machine passed over Goddards about 10:10 a. m. it was flying just above the house tops of the village of Marden Park. The identity of the passengers killed was definitely established as follows: G. F. Miller, director of Henderson & Co., Lute Merchants of Calcutta; G. J. Zappas, an employee of Henderson and Co.; and D. L. Jones, Lansdowne road, Stockwell.

After the crash, the machine burst into flames. Behind the remnants of the air liner was a large tree which had been torn from the ground by the lunge of the big machine.

The Prince was severely burned on the face. His clothing was burned from his arms and legs. Before being taken to a hospital he gasped: "I opened the window and crawled out."

Kinship also crawled free to do anything to rescue the others as the machine almost instantly was ablaze. When firemen and other rescuers arrived they could not do much more than stave off the bodies.

Joseph Wolff was shot and killed by a Negro robber in his confectionery at 3946 Finney avenue last night, in the presence of his wife and while offering no resistance.

Wolff was 34 years old and served in France with the 138th (St. Louis) Infantry. He had been held up and robbed of small sums three times in the last two years. Although a good shot, he made it a rule not to resist robbers.

He and his wife, Rose, were chasing in their living quarters an employee of the Goddards Works said the motor seemed to be functioning perfectly, with the pilot making for Brighton road apparently to get his bearings.

CHEMIST KILLED IN EXPLOSION AT EAST ALTON, ILL.

Charles R. Gwin, Employee of Western Cartridge Co., Was Experimenting With Smokeless Powder.

Charles Ray Gwin, 42 years old, an experimental chemist employed at the Western Cartridge Co., East Alton, was killed yesterday afternoon when an explosion occurred while he was engaged in laboratory work in connection with the development of a new smokeless powder.

So far as property damage was concerned, the explosion was slight, being limited to the one laboratory room where Gwin worked. Officers of the company today said the cause of the accident could not be determined, inasmuch as Gwin was working alone. Examination of the body showed that several pieces of metal pierced the flesh, one fragment entering the heart and apparently causing death.

Gwin had been employed at the Western company's plant for the last 15 years, having come to East Alton from Flora, Ill. He lived at 187 Kingshighway, East Alton, with his wife, Mrs. Braxie Gwin, and a son, Donald, 3 years old.

Funeral services will be held Friday at Springfield, where Gwin formerly resided.

ARNOLD LETTERS
SWAY SENATORS

Head of Southern Association Wrote That Opposition Should Be Weakened and Executive Won Over

"HOPED TO PERSUADE

Chief Collector for Propaganda Says Banks Gave $600 on Sight Drafts for "Educational Work."

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—How the high tariff sugar lobby sought to "create public sentiment," with the President of the United States as the target; how it built fire under the two Florida Senators to bring them into line for the House tariff bill, manufacturing rates and all; how it planned to "put the old working lunch" on the job to help get the bill through the Senate—these and other interesting revelations were placed today in the record of the Senate's lobby investigating committee.

They came in part from the testimony of J. A. Arnold, chief of the "Big Four" money-getters of the Southern Tariff Association and the American Taxpayers' League, of both of which interlocking lobbyist organizations Arnold is the general manager, and in part from a voluminous correspondence between Arnold and his fellow workers.

The hearing also threw further light on Arnold's effort to get the Federal estate tax repealed and on the remarkable success of his two organizations in collecting funds, a large part of which went to pay the collection of the tax.

The correspondence, in the opinion of the committee, disclosed a singular reluctance on the part of Arnold to have the affairs of the "Big Four" League looked into by inquiring prospective subscribers.

Levelled on Many Banks. Delving further into what it has characterized as the "sucker list" of these lobbying outfits, the committee learned from Arnold that in 1928, the tariff association drew eight drafts of $10 each on 1700 Texas banks, and on a "selected list" of Georgia and Alabama banks. That same year, Arnold said, to arouse the interest of the banks in the protective tariff. The solicitation of the Texas banks brought the association about $100,000 for use in its "educational work."

Arnold related also that the Taxpayers' League got $3000 from the State of Florida and the tariff association got about $4000 from Florida counties. All of this $6000, as Senator Blaine pointed out, came from public funds. Vance Muse, one of the "Big Four" of the Arnold collecting machine, was the persuasive force in Florida.

$4000 More to Mrs. Darden. The committee already had developed that Arnold, Muse, W. F. Myrick and Mrs. Ida M. Darden got more than $75,000 out of the $200,000 authorized by the Tariff Association and Taxpayers' League in the year ending last September. Today it found another $4000, which went to Mrs. Darden. This was entered on Arnold's book as "general expenses." Arnold said that most of the large sums shown to have been received by the "Big Four" went for "organization expenses."

In going through the books of the two interlocking organizations, which have lobbied in Washington for a tariff on Southern agricultural products and for repeal of the Federal inheritance tax, the committee found a long list of payments, ranging from $500 to $1000, to various persons for "organization work" and for expenses in attending conventions. Several Southern State Commissioners of Agriculture shared in the distribution.

Reluctant to Disclose Work. Correspondence put into the committee's hands showed that inquiries from the St. Paul Association of Commerce and the Advisory State Securities Commission Stockard Finds That No Patent Has Been Issued.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6.—Another airplane company offering stock in a plane supposedly capable of taking off or landing vertically, the Hermann Helioplane Co. of St. Antonio, Tex., today was ordered to stop selling stock in Missouri. Penion V. Stockard, State Securities Commissioner, issued a cease and desist order against the firm because it had sought nor received authority to sell stock in the State.

About two weeks ago the Commissioner issued a cease and desist order against the Helioplane Co. of America, with headquarters in Fort Worth, Tex. The order cited today "is about the same proposition as the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis said in a complaint to Stockard. 'The plane has not been built, or tried, and no patents have been issued,' it said.

The Securities Commission revoked the State license of the Bankers' Security Co. of Denver, Colo., because of complaints and failure of the company to meet Missouri security requirements. The company was offering insurance stock.

The department issued a cease and desist order against Bowman & Co., St. Louis, for offering various securities. The firm had not renewed its State license for this year, Stockard said.

At the office of Bowman & Co. it was stated that the firm had neglected, through an oversight, to apply for a renewal of the State license, and that the matter would be attended to at once.

The Iron Age in its review of the steel industry said that the initial effect of the stock market break has been to accentuate caution on the part of buyers. The business has been light and the placing of some prospective tonnage has been delayed, indicating that purchasers wish to obtain a better appraisal of the influence of the securities debate on their own business before making further commitments in their raw materials.

Some Favorable News. Except for the publication of a disappointing weekly freight report for the week ended Oct. 26, there were no new developments over the election day holiday to account for the renewal of selling pressure, several increases and extra dividends were announced during the day, and most of the leading chain store systems showed substantial increases in October sales reports made public today.

Weak Spots Cleared Out. Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent, and the time money market was dull, with 6 per cent ruling rate for all maturities. The close checking-up of accounts over the week-end apparently has disclosed a number of additional weak spots which were being cleaned out today. Wall Street also believed that some support stock bought last week was being liquidated, and that there was heavy selling by traders who bought stocks at the opening Monday in anticipation of a big rise that day as a result of widely published reports that there had been an accumulation of buying orders over the week-end.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet, with the leading European rates showing only small fractional changes. Japanese yen showed conspicuous strength, rallying 35 points to 48.50 cents. A fresh break in coffee prices was one of the features of the mixed commodity markets.

American Issues Down at London. By the Associated Press. LONDON, Nov. 6.—Uncertainty how Wall Street will react to the British caused a subdued tone in the London Stock Exchange this morning where movements were slight and irregular. Trans-Atlantic favorites dropped somewhat, but business was small pending the Wall Street opening, speculative issues were dull and British bonds better.

The receipt of weak New York advices caused a further sagging of American issues, Hydrex closing 6 points down, International Nickel and Brazil Traction each 3 points lower, and radios flat. British funds continued steady at the level of earlier recoveries.

Chicago Stocks Tumble. Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Stocks tumbled rapidly during the abbreviated three-hour session today. An average of selling orders came upon the market, causing values to melt away.

The most active came in Middle West Utilities, new stock, with more than 228,000 shares changing hands. The price declined to a low of 25 1/2, and closed at 24 1/2. Middle West Utilities old stock tumbled 6 1/2 to 23 1/2. Middle West rights broke 12 1/2 to 11 1/2.

Other utility stocks also suffered heavily. Commonwealth Edison broke 23 1/2 to 24, Central & South-West Utilities fell 4 to 15. Cities Service suffered a net loss of 8, closing at 30 1/2. Associated Telephone was down 4 to 24 1/2.

Among investment trust issues Insull broke nearly 20 points to a low of 45 and rallied slightly before the close. In the motor group Auburn broke 35 to 160. Bendix closed 6 1/2 lower at 24. Borg-Warner at 34 1/2 was off 6 1/2. Pines Winterfront fell 3 and Foote Gear 4.

The radio shares again were under pressure, Grigsby-Grunow tumbled 10 1/2 to a low of 20. At the close the price rallied to 21. Zenith, Westark, United States Radi and Stentle were all weak.

Beatrice Creamery was one of the weakest of the specialties receding 9 to 8 1/2 on light trading. San Francisco Prices Down. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Another selling wave rolled over San Francisco financial markets early today, sending leading prices down 1 to 5 points.

Transamerica opened lower to day and slid down during the first hour to more than $5 a share below yesterday's close, reaching 42 1/2, then regaining two points. Union Oil, Standard and Richfield showed losses of 1 to 2 1/2 points. Caterpillar dropped 5 1/2 points, but recovered 1 at the close of the first hour. Paraffine was off 3 points, as was Pacific Lighting and Pacific Gas & Electric. Declines were general throughout the remainder of the list, although only fractional in many stocks.

IDENTIFIES WOMAN STRIKER'S SLAYER AT GASTONIA, N. C.

Witness at Hearing of 16 Men Accused Selects Horace Wheeler From Among the Group.

GASTONIA, N. C., Nov. 6.—Horace Wheeler, Fred T. Morrow and L. H. Thompson were identified again today as being present during incidents leading up to the shooting of Ella May Wiggins, Bessemer City textile union member, on Sept. 14.

Charles Shope of Bessemer City, one of the men on a truck with the woman, testified at Judge P. A. McElroy's inquiry that Thompson approached the truck when it was turned back at the Lora cotton mill village in Gastonia by a mob on preventing the passing of the truck having fired Mrs. Wiggins. McElroy's inquiry that Thompson approached the truck when it was turned back at the Lora cotton mill village in Gastonia by a mob on preventing the passing of the truck having fired Mrs. Wiggins.

Shope said he heard the shot that killed the woman and saw her fall but did not see who fired it. He said he heard shots in a field later, but did not know who was firing. Shope did not call the names of the men he said he saw, but walked along the row of accused men and touched them.

Sixteen men are under bond on charges of murder and conspiracy to murder in connection with the killing. Julius Fowler, one-legged man whose crutch Frank Fortner yesterday said broke the glass in the cab of George Lingerfelt's truck when it collided with Fred Morrow's car, today identified Horace Wheeler as the man who fired the shot that killed the woman. Fowler asserted that the shot was fired just an instant before the truck hit the automobile. He said Wheeler was standing by the side of the road.

B. L. Case, Mount Holly textile worker, who said he was a chance passenger on the truck, identified Wheeler yesterday. Explaining his presence on the truck Case said he was crossing a street here as a crowd surged around the truck. He testified that he was pressed against the truck and when he did so, he saw Wheeler, who was standing on the truck, tell.

After the truck was forced from the road, he said, Wheeler came up on the left side of it and fired one shot, which he said he saw Wheeler, who was standing on the truck, tell.

POISON IN STOMACH OF BANK EMPLOYEE FOUND DEAD
Inquest Into Death of Belleville Man, 25, Will Be Conducted Tomorrow.

An examination of the stomach of Bert W. Zaehring, 25 years old, who died suddenly last night at his home, 812 Scheel street, Belleville, disclosed a quantity of poison, according to a report made to Coroner Boyne, East St. Louis, by Dr. R. B. H. Gradwohl, St. Louis pathologist, who performed an autopsy today. A note, indicating that the man had been poisoned, was found, but will not be disclosed until the inquest is held tomorrow.

Zaehring, who lived with his aunt, Mrs. Frieda Keefe, came home at 4:30 p. m. yesterday from the First National Bank, where he was employed in the savings department, and complained of feeling ill. An hour and a half later his aunt found him in his room and found him dead in bed. Bank officers reported to Coroner Boyne that the young man's accounts were in good order.

Spilled Milk, Accused in Death of Ella May Wiggins.

An indictment charging feloniously leaving the scene of an accident was voted by the grand jury today against Paul A. Steinlage, 30-year-old son of John G. Steinlage, owner of the Quality Dairy Co., 4630 North Florissant avenue. Young Steinlage was the driver of an automobile that struck and killed Ella May Wiggins, 15, 2645 Dodder street, as she was crossing North Grand boulevard early Oct. 22 en route to the Mullany Hospital, where she was employed as a waitress.

A trail of spilled milk led Police Capt. William Tierney to Steinlage, who at first denied he had struck anyone, but later admitted, according to the captain, that he had fallen asleep at the wheel and had died after killing the girl.

Reporters were informed that the grand jury considered an indictment on manslaughter charges, but failed to vote it. Steinlage lives with his parents at 4624 West Florissant avenue.

CORONER THINKS MAN, 66, KILLED WOMAN, THEN HIMSELF
Merriam (Kam) Official Offers Explanation of Death of Pair Found Slain.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 6.—Although a Coroner's jury today had not returned a verdict in the case of Mrs. Minnie E. Hare, 30 years old, and Jesse J. Barnwell, 65, whose bodies were found yesterday in the woman's home at Merriam, Kan., R. L. Moberly, the Coroner, said he thought Barnwell had shot Mrs. Hare and then taken his own life.

Mrs. Hare's body with bullet holes in the head and neck, was found in the kitchen. In the dining room lay Barnwell's body, with a high caliber rifle beside him. He had died from a bullet wound in the head.

The house had been ransacked and a diamond ring valued at $850 was missing, but planned in the woman's clothing was $3765 in currency.

The Coroner said he had learned that Barnwell, who boarded with Mrs. Hare, had complained to W. S. Dandy, Merriam City Marshal, that she would not return a $250 diamond ring he had given her upon her promise to marry him. The ring was found inside a bandage wrapped around Mrs. Hare's leg, besides $2700 in currency.

It was reported that Mrs. Hare had deeded her home, valued at $4500, to a former boarder to prevent its seizure in litigation. Further investigation showed she had deposited $6000 to the man's account in a Kansas City, Kan., bank last May.

Druggist Disarms a Robber In Store for Second Time

E. W. Godron, Who Worst One in 1925, Gets the Drop on Another — Let's Him Escape, Rather Than Shoot.

Emil W. Godron, a druggist, 2601 Virginia avenue, last night for a second time disarmed a robber in his store, but permitted the man to escape because his conscience would not permit his firing an unarmed fugitive.

Godron was alone in his store at 7:40 o'clock when a man about 23 years old, wearing a dark suit and gray sweater, entered and asked for cigarettes. When the druggist turned his back the man ordered him to hold up his hands. The robber, who had drawn a revolver, made Godron walk toward the partition at the rear of the store with his hands raised.

As the man started to help him to the contents of the cash register Godron reached behind the partition and seized his own revolver. "Now or stick them up," the druggist commanded. The robber complied and handed his revolver to Godron, pleading, "Don't shoot I had the drop on you and didn't shoot." Godron directed his captive to occupy a stool at the soda fountain and started to telephone police. The intruder dashed from the store and escaped as Godron was manipulating the telephone dial. Godron later told police he probably could have shot the man as he ran from the store, but explained, "My conscience would not let me." Godron turned the robber's .33-caliber revolver over to the police with a request that it be returned to him as a souvenir. Godron has had two previous encounters with robbers. In 1923 he was held up and robbed of $50. He armed himself following that experience and on the night of Dec. 23, 1925, a man held up him and Mrs. Godron in the store. Godron pointed a revolver at the man and pulled the trigger, but the cartridge failed to explode. The robber's revolver also failed to function and a struggle ensued, during which Mrs. Godron struck the robber on the head with a large bottle. The robber freed himself and ran away, leaving behind his revolver and cap.

Alfred Fitzpatrick, 1016 Armstrong avenue, was held up for 15 minutes crossing the Twenty-first street viaduct at 7 p. m. The grocery of Morris Lipchitz, 1307 North Spring avenue, was held up as the proprietor was closing the store at 8:50 p. m., two robbers taking $31.

MOVIE STARS' TAX ADVISER FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD

J. Marjorie Berger Convicted of Urging Client to Falsify U. S. Return — Jury Out Ten Minutes.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 6.—After deliberating 10 minutes a jury in Federal Court today convicted Miss J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income tax adviser, of advising a client to falsify a tax return.

The conviction rested on two counts charging Miss Berger with manipulating the return of Dorothy Mackall, motion picture actress, in 1924. Numerous other counts, involving notables in the Hollywood film colony were dropped by the Government, but one case concerning Tom Mix and Miss Berger has been set for trial Feb. 15.

Miss Mackall, the Government alleged, overstated her deductions by about $30,000. At the trial witnesses testified that Miss Berger had advised her clients to claim deductions on expenditures which never were made. Miss Berger denied all the charges and said all her actions were based on her client's instructions.

Attorneys for the defendant announced a motion for a new trial would be filed. Federal Court set Nov. 11 for sentence. The verdict carries a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine on each count.

HELD FOR DUPING GIRLS BY FAKE MOVIE SCHOOL

Hollywood Man Accused of Swindling Many Latin-American Young Women.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 6.—Charging that he swindled many girls from Central and South America out of thousands of dollars through a fake motion picture school, police today held Frederick M. McLemore, 26 years old, of Hollywood.

McLemore was booked at the city prison on a charge of operating an employment bureau without a license, but detectives said more serious charges would be filed as soon as they completed their investigations.

McLemore, they said, placed advertisements in Spanish language newspapers here and in Latin America, setting forth plans to produce "super features" for exportation to Latin America. On the promise of giving them employment as actresses, said investigators, he sought to sell to the young women stock in his company, variously known as the Spanish-American Sonofilm Co., the Associated Artists Productions and the Hispano-America Sonofilm Corporation. Upon payment of various amounts, police said, he promised returns on a graduated scale.

The arrest grew out of the suspicions of Miss Adela Bernudez, daughter of a Nicaraguan coffee planter, one of the young women he had attempted to interest in his scheme.

Police also questioned Julio Serrador, Peruvian film director, but released him. Serrador was hired by McLemore to direct the proposed pictures, police said.

PRINCE MAX, LAST GERMAN IMPERIAL CHANCELLOR, DIES

Arterial Trouble Aggravated by Injury Suffered in Fall Causes End After Three Weeks' Illness.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANCE, Baden, Germany, Nov. 4. — Prince Maximilian von Baden, last Imperial German Chancellor and heir to the Grand Duchy of Baden, died here today at 5:45 a. m. He was 63 years old.

Prince Maximilian had been ailing for a year from arterial trouble. About three weeks ago he fell and broke two ribs, necessitating removal from Baden Castle, his home, to the municipal hospital where his condition grew rapidly worse.

His wife, Marie Louise, former Duchess of Brunswick-Lüneburg, was summoned to his bedside Saturday with their two children, 23-year-old Berchold and 27-year-old Marie Alexandra. The latter is married to Prince Wolfgang von Hesse.

He was unconscious then, but Sunday rallied and seemed better until last night when he collapsed.

Made Chancellor in 1918.

Prince Max, as he was more widely known, was called to the Imperial Chancellery in the closing days of the World War, Oct. 6, 1918.

At that post he negotiated with President Wilson and the Allied leaders the terms under which an armistice finally was granted, and he announced to the German people the abdication of the Kaiser.

He subsequently was subjected to attacks by Nationalist elements, which claimed he had advised the Kaiser falsely to flee from Berlin and had withdrawn governmental support of the army. In July, 1919, when he left to reside temporarily in Switzerland it was said communists had threatened his life; other plots against his life were reported.

His Version of Flight.

In his memoirs, published in 1927, he gave his version of the last days of the Empire, saying the Kaiser told him it was necessary to leave Berlin at that critical period because his physicians had warned him of the danger of contracting influenza.

Later he found it exceedingly difficult to get into communication with the Emperor at all and related to him the events which made his abdication necessary.

He told also of his farewell to the Socialist Leader Ebert, after Ebert had refused his offer to be a regent. Prince Max said he started to leave the room but turned and said:

"Herr Ebert, I confide the German Empire to your care."
Ebert answered simply: "I already have lost two sons for the Reich."

Born in 1867.

Prince Max was born July 10, 1867, a nephew of the reigning Grand Duke Frederick I, whose daughter became Queen Victoria of Sweden. He studied law at Heidelberg and Freiburg and later became commander of the Badenese Dragoons.

Later he declined all military appointments as contrary to his democratic ideas, accepting instead the presidency of the Baden House of Lords where his humanitarianism won him many friends.

In that capacity he stirred the House on Dec. 14, 1917, in a speech in which he denied the right of the United States to act as a judge of humanity, adding, however: "Let us not be deceived. The American people want this war and hope to realize their great idea of making the world safe for democracy." He also declared himself to be in favor of the League of Nations.

Democratic Program.
Politicians believed his program of democratization for the Imperial Government might have saved it had it been invoked a little sooner, but as it was it came too late.

After his retirement from the Chancellery Prince Max was detested by the Royalists because they claimed he had brought about the Emperor's abdication, and consequently he never returned to political life.

He and his wife lived quite modestly, occupying only a part of the huge Baden Castle on the northern shore of Lake Constance, the remainder of the premises being devoted to an educational establishment run on modern lines of conservatism.

A visitor once remarked, "This community is somewhere near socialism." Prince Max replied smilingly, "Yes, but with a benevolent autocrat at the head."

The latter part of his life was devoted to combating the "war guilt" abroad.

SLAYER OF EX-WIFE INDICTED

Lyman Wilbur Charged With First-Degree Murder

A first-degree murder indictment was voted yesterday against Lyman Wilbur, 35 years old, a cook of National City, Ill., who shot and killed his divorced wife, Beatrice Wilbur, 35, a waitress, at a rooming house at 1239A Cheyenne avenue, Sept. 25.

Wilbur, who was captured by a policeman a short distance away, said he did not know his wife had divorced him and declared he went to the rooming house to "kill the man she was living with." He fired five shots at the man, he said, and one bullet struck Mrs. Wilbur.

Jewish Students Flogged.
VIENNA, Nov. 6.—National University German students yesterday renewed their demonstrations against Jewish students, flogging many of them severely. The police were compelled to use rubber truncheons to restore order.

DEMOCRATS CONTROL KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE

Gov. Sampson Now the Only Republican Holding Elective State Office.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Democratic majorities in both branches of the Kentucky General Assembly convening in January were indicated today on the basis of returns from yesterday's election. Republicans sought to gain control of the State Legislature to strengthen the administration of Gov. Flem D. Sampson, Republican, two years of whose four-year term remain. The Governor and all appointive State officers are Republican. All elective officers except the Governor are Democratic. Unofficial returns point to the usual Democratic majority of approximately two-thirds of the Lower House, and control of the Senate.

The Republicans, however, made a clean sweep of Louisville and Jefferson County. William E. Harrison, (Rep.), was elected Mayor by an unprecedented majority of 30,000. In the legislative races, the Republicans gained four seats by electing all eight candidates in Jefferson County. The one State Senate election in the county also went to the Republicans.

The Republican gain in Louisville and Jefferson County was offset by Democratic gains in the legislative races throughout the State. Several districts that sent Republican Representatives to the 1928 session gave majorities to Democratic candidates.

Twenty-two persons were arrested here during the day, one charged with interfering with voting. At Shepherdsville Charles E. Ricketts, 38 years old, railroad employe, fell dead of apoplexy as he entered a booth to cast his vote, and at Louisville an organized search started for Harry Hays, 60, farmer, missing since Oct. 28 when he started out to electioneer for a friend.

Among the candidates elected to the Legislature are several who have announced their opposition to the policies of Gov. Sampson, particularly in connection with his proposal for a luxury tax to obtain funds for free textbooks for public grade school pupils. The free textbook act, the principal plank in Gov. Sampson's campaign in 1927, was held by the Court of Appeals to be constitutional but inoperative until funds had been provided.

Mayor Who Has Served Four Terms Defeated in Cheyenne.

By the Associated Press.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 6.—C. W. Riner, defeated yesterday in the Cheyenne mayoralty election, has served four terms as head of the city government but has failed on two occasions to gain the favor of the voters for the third successive time.

He first was elected in 1927 and was re-elected two years later. He lost in 1931. After an interval of 34 years he ran again and was elected in 1925 and 1927. He was defeated yesterday by Cal Holliday.

Democrats Gain Two Seats in New York Assembly.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Democrats gained two additional seats in the lower House of the Legislature as a result of yesterday's election.

The result of four upsets in the State election places three new Democrats in Assembly seats and recaptures for the Republicans one seat held last season by a Democrat.

CENTENARY OF MASSACRE

City to Conduct Pageant on Anniversary of Slaughter of French Pioneers.

NATCHEZ, Miss.—This city, Nov. 28, will commemorate the two-hundredth anniversary of one of America's bloodiest Indian massacres.

Two hundred and forty French pioneers were killed Nov. 28, 1729, by a band of Natchez Indians. The Indians shot Father Du Plessis, a Jesuit priest, who had come to the settlement to minister to the ill in the disease-stricken outpost, then butchered the rest of the inhabitants. Only two persons escaped. The observance will include a service in St. Mary's Cathedral and pageant.

Hungarian Inventor Dies. BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 6.—Stefan Fodor, 73 years old, an electrical engineer who invented improvements for the telephone, died yesterday. He was a friend of Thomas A. Edison, by whom he had been visited here.

WOULD DEPRESS OLIVE TRACKS AT LOCUST ST.

City Plan Committee Offers $95,000 Plan to Relieve Traffic Congestion.

A scheme for elimination of the serious traffic congestion at the intersection of Olive street, Lindell boulevard, Channing avenue and the Lindell-Locust cutoff was presented to the City Plan Commission last night by its Streets, Parks & Transit Committee. Cost was estimated at $95,000, which doubtless would have to be raised by bond issue if the plan should be adopted.

The proposal is to build a 1500-foot subway for Olive trolley, with the eastern entrance between Compton and Leonard avenues and the western end near Theresa avenue. This would cost about $791,000, the committee said. Then an oval-shaped plan or direct would be installed in the intersection to separate and guide the streams of traffic from the various directions. It would be 275 feet long.

As an alternative, the committee suggested an elevated structure to carry the car tracks in Olive street across the intersection. Cost of this was estimated at $445,000, plus $150,000 for damages to abutting property, a total of $595,000. This found less favor because of the costly and unpleasant effect it would have on the neighborhood.

DEMOCRATIC-B. O. P. FUSION WINS IN CHICAGO ELECTION

Seventeen Cook County Judges Re-elected; 10 of 11 Prosecutors Elected; No Disruption Reported.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Coalition was victorious in yesterday's judicial election, the "regular" Democratic ticket, on which were 16 Republican and 13 Democratic candidates, winning in a vote by about one-fourth of the registered electors.

All 17 sitting Cook County Circuit and Superior Judges were re-elected. Although it was the first time since 1920 that voters had had an opportunity to express their choice in a judicial election, the coalition ticket met little opposition. The "regular" Republican slate of five candidates ran a poor second, while the Proletariat ticket against coalition, with 13 names, trailed.

Ten out of 11 special propositions were defeated, in some instances by almost a two-to-one vote. The West Park super-highway bond issue proposal for a $20,000,000 elevated roadway to the western city limits was defeated by more than 10,000 votes. A $1,000,000 bond issue for Lincoln Park's outer drive development was carried by about 15,000 votes.

The election was the quietest in years, officials said, and no instances of disorder were reported.

DEBATE IN HOUSE OF LORDS ON LABOR PLEDGE TO INDIA

Former Viceroy Seeks Reasons for "Extraordinary Course" Concerning Dominion Status.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Nov. 4.—The House of Lords was crowded with members when Lord Reading, former Viceroy of India, started a debate on the action of his successor, Lord Irwin, in affirming the Government's intention of granting India full dominion status, ultimately.

Lord Reading asked the labor Government's reasons for "the extraordinary course" in making a pronouncement without first consulting the Simon Commission which has not yet made public its report. He emphasized he did not object to dominion status for India. He thought the use of the term in this instance, however, was fraught with considerable danger. Lord Parmoor, president of the council, replied on behalf of the Government that the pronouncement was made because the Viceroy thought it was necessary in view of the troubled political atmosphere in India. The Government had informed the Simon Commission of the intended action but the Simon Commission had not wished to be associated in the correspondence, he said.

HEARING ON LOWER RATE ON WORKMAN COMPENSATIONS

Companies Submit to State New Schedule Providing for Decrease of About 21-2 Per Cent.

SUPERINTENDENT
DEFERS DECISION

Employers Say Campaign for Law Was Made on Promise Payments Would Be Under Liability Scale.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6. — A hearing was held yesterday afternoon by State Insurance Superintendent Joseph H. Thompson on a proposed schedule revising rates for workmen's compensation liability insurance in Missouri, which was filed with the insurance department recently by the National Council on Compensation Insurance, a central rating bureau for companies writing this type of insurance. The schedule includes approximately 700 rates for different industries and classes of workers.

Thompson took the schedule under advisement at the conclusion of the hearing, which largely was taken up with technical testimony, and indicated the insurance department would make its decision on the rates about Nov. 15. Thompson said there would be some changes in the proposed rates and some reductions, but they would not be announced until the department had completed its analysis of the proposed rates.

Some Increases Provided.
The proposed schedule provides increases for some industries and classes of workers and reductions for others. The general effect of the schedule is to lower the rates for compensation insurance in Missouri on an average of about two and one-half per cent. The new rates, if adopted by the insurance department, likely will go into effect about Dec. 31.

Virtually no objection to the proposed schedule was made at the hearing, attended by about 30 representatives of insurance companies and employers.

The proposed revision is based on data compiled on the experience of the companies and employers under the Missouri workmen's compensation act, which went into effect in January, 1927, following its ratification in a referendum election.

When the insurance companies filed their first schedule, just before the compensation law became effective, employers protested that the average rate was only about 7 per cent less than the rate level for the employer's former liability insurance policies.

Lower Rates Promised.
It was pointed out that assurance had been given in the campaign for ratification of the act, based on statements from the rating bureau for the companies, that rates would be 20 to 25 per cent lower, on the average.

Representatives of the companies contended "no data on accidents and claims under the new law was available, as to Missouri employers, and that the rates were based on what information the companies had. They contended the compensation law covered a wider field than the former liability insurance, and that readjustments could be made after experience was available.

Former State Insurance Superintendent Ben C. Hyde in January, 1927, ordered reductions in 94 of the 964 separate rates filed by the companies. The 94 rates reduced were for classifications representing an estimated 28 per cent of the volume of compensation insurance. The reductions averaged 19 per cent from the rates proposed by the companies.

NEGRO COMMITTEEMAN FREED
ON PATRONAGE LAW CHARGE

Indictments Against Perry Howard of Mississippi and Eight Others Dismissed.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4.—Perry
T. Howard, Negro Republican National Committeeman from Mississippi, and eight other alleged offenders against the Federal patronage act, were freed from further prosecution on old charges yesterday when, on advice from the United States Department of Justice, six indictments were dismissed.

The dismissal was ordered by Federal Judge Edwin R. Holmes on the recommendation of United States District Attorney Cameron, Meridian, acting on instructions from the Department of Justice.
The defendants were Charles James, A. D. Redmond, A. M. Redmond, E. L. Patton, George F. Mc-Clellan, William A. Miller, J. C.
Tanshill, James G. Buchanan and Howard.

Howard, the two Redmonds, Patton and Scott Hubbard were tried here in December, 1928, on a conspiracy charge, and acquitted. Last spring at Meridian, Howard, Buchanan, McClellan and Patton were acquitted on a similar charge.

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY

Stresses Nation's Prosperity and Tells of Peace at Home and Abroad.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—In his first Thanksgiving proclamation issued today, President Hoover says assurance of peace at home and abroad have been strengthened, that the harvest has been abundant and that both capital and labor have enjoyed "an exceptional prosperity." The proclamation set Nov. 28 as the day of Thanksgiving. Its text follows:

"By the President of the United States of America.
"A proclamation.
"At this season of the year, when the harvest has been gathered in, the thoughts of our forefathers turned toward God with thanksgiving for the blessings of plenty and provision against the needs of winter. They came by custom to look to the Chief Magistrate to set apart a day of prayer and praise, wherein their thanks as a united people might be given with one voice in unison. God has greatly blessed us as a nation in the year now drawing to a close. The earth has yielded an abundant harvest in most parts of our country. The fruits of industry have been of unexampled quantity and value. Both capital and labor have enjoyed an exceptional prosperity.

"Assurance of peace, at home and abroad, have been strengthened and enlarged. Progress has been made in provision against preventable disasters from flood and pestilence. Enlightenment has grown apace in new revelations of scientific truth and in diffusion of knowledge. Educational opportunities have steadily enlarged. Enduring advances have been gained in the protection of the public health. Childhood is measurably more secure. New experience and new knowledge in many fields have been recorded, from which a deeper wisdom may grow. We should accept these blessings with resolutions to devote them to service of Almighty God.

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do appoint and set aside Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of November, as a day of national thanksgiving, and do recommend that all our people on that day rest from their daily work, that they should extend to others less fortunate placed a share in their abundance, and that they gather at their accustomed places of worship, there to render up thanks to Almighty God for his many blessings upon them, for his forbearance and goodness.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

"Done at the city of Washington, this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and sixty-fourth.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

Frances Alda, Pasquale Amato, Marie Alcock, Mario Charles and Alfred O'Shea will give that opera over Station WEAU under the direction of Genaro Papi, who directs the Italian opera at the Metropolitan Opera Co. Deane Taylor will be the narrator.

TWO NEGROES SHOT IN RESISTING ARREST

Patrolman Says He Did Not Intend to Hit One, Fleeing Down Alley.

Two Negroes who resisted arrest were shot and seriously wounded by police last night and early today.

Julius White, 30 years old, released from the City Workhouse yesterday after serving six months for a theft or shock, approached Patrolman Fred Kershaw at 5 a. m. and said he had been beaten and robbed of a watch in a cigar store at 2124 Market street. Upon inquiry there, Kershaw was told that White had a watch, but had been ejected for fighting with another Negro, who was injured.

The patrolman then arrested White and took him to a patrol box. The prisoner pushed the policeman, broke away and fled through an alley. Patrolman Kershaw drew his revolver, intending to fire over the Negro's head, but slipped on garbage in the rear of a restaurant at 2124 Chestnut street and the weapon was accidentally discharged, he reported.

Shot in the back, White dropped an automatic pistol and surrendered. He was removed to City Hospital No. 2. He is known by the alias of Johnson and Wright and has served a term in the Kentucky Reformatory, according to police.

Elium Morris, 20, 702 North Fifteenth street, was shot in both thighs by Detectives James Turner and Kenneth McGuire at 7 p. m. Morris had quarreled with a Negro woman, Daisy Thompson, 1727 Lucas avenue, and knocked her under an automobile near 700 North Eighteenth street. He fled through an alley and, when he ignored commands to halt, the detectives each fired a shot at him, whereupon he surrendered.

Slot Machine Seized in Store. The police gambling squad yesterday seized a mint vending machine in a confectionery at 1323 South Broadway and arrested Otto Rothenberg, proprietor. Rothenberg is alleged to have given a detective who played the machine tobacco in exchange for slugs, which the officer won.

BOWLES ELECTED MAYOR OF DETROIT BY 8595 VOTES

Former Judge of Recorder's Court Defeated Ex-Mayor Smith in Close Non-Partisan Election.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 6.—Making his third attempt for the Mayoralty of Detroit, Charles Bowles, former Judge of the Recorder's Court, was elected yesterday in the closest contest for that office in recent years. Opposed by John W.
Smith, former Mayor, who had the endorsement of the present Mayor, John C. Lodge, a relative of Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh, Bowles was elected by a majority of 8595 votes in the non-partisan election. The vote was: Bowles, 181,030; Smith, 172,435.

At Smith headquarters there was talk of a possible recount petition, but no formal statement was issued.

Bowles' election was a victory, in a sense, for the administration of Gov. Fred W. Green in State affairs, although the Governor's opposition to Smith was not an open issue in the campaign. Smith was known to be hostile to the Governor, and with control of the heavy Detroit and Wayne County voting strength in the State Republican conventions as the prize, the Governor's adherents had hoped for the election of Bowles.

RAPID TRANSIT ORGANIZATION GROUP TO MEET TOMORROW

Body of 100 Would Be Selected From Professions, Industries and Civic Enterprises.

The group considering organization of a citizens' committee on rapid transit will hold its second luncheon meeting tomorrow at the City Club. The first meeting was held last Thursday at the invitation of Harry Bortin, a consulting engineer.

Tentative plans for the committee propose a group of about 100 men and women, one-fourth selected from the professions, one-fourth from manufacturing, banking, commercial and transportation industries; one-fourth from civic organizations and one-fourth from trades and salaried occupations. It is proposed to have every ward and suburban community represented.
All who are interested have been invited to attend tomorrow's meeting.

SECURITIES TAKEN FROM BANK AT BEAUFORT FOUND IN FIELD

Robbers Apparently Discarded Box Containing $84,800 of Non-negotiable Papers.

A steel box containing non-negotiable securities stolen Oct. 1 in a holdup of the Farmers & Merchant Bank at Beaufort, Mo., was found yesterday in a field near Mason and Manchester roads, St.
Louis County.

The securities included deeds of trust and certificates of indebtedness to the amount of $84,800. Presumably the box and its contents were discarded by the robbers. A Negro and a white man robbed the bank of $830 and the securities, escaping in an automobile which they drove toward St. Louis.

The box was found by George and Henry Schrimper and Fred Winkel, farmers who live nearby.

RADIO STATION WITHOUT ADS "Death Valley" Scott to Spend $400,000 for Equipment.

By the Associated Press.
TONOPAH, Nev., Nov. 6.—Walter "Death Valley" Scott announced that he plans to erect a large radio broadcasting station on his palatial estate near here soon.

Scott has purchased two 250-horsepower engines for generating power and other equipment for the station. He said he would employ the best talent available for his programs, and that he would not permit advertising to be broadcast. The station will cost about $400,000, he said.

FALL SUFFERS A RELAPSE May Be Unable to Leave Tonight for Texas Home.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A re-lapse in the condition of Albert B.
Fall, sentenced last week to serve a year in jail and pay a fine of $100,000 for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, may prevent his departure tonight for his home in El Paso, Tex.

Fall was confined to bed today under the care of a nurse. Members of the family said that while his condition was not regarded as serious, he was noticeably weaker since his sentence was pronounced last Friday.

INDICTED MAYOR RE-ELECTED

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Nov. 6.— Raleigh P. Hale, recently indicted by a Federal grand jury for conspiracy to violate the liquor law, was re-elected Mayor of this city yesterday on the Republican ticket, defeating Allen P. Twyman, Citizens candidate.

Hale was one of a number of persons indicted as a result of investigations into liquor law violations in Lake County.

URGENT EXPANSION OF STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Delegates Explain Needs of Institution at Hearing Before Members of Missouri Survey Commission.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 6.—
A group of 10 delegates representing the agricultural bureaus of the St.
Louis Chamber of Commerce, the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, the Missouri Livestock Producers' Association and the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, appeared before Allen McReynolds of Carthage, member of the State Survey Commission, and Dr. L. D.
Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. D. P.
Cottrell of Columbia University, staff investigators of the commission, here yesterday to urge favorable consideration for the Missouri College of Agriculture in the commission's report.

Those attending the conference were: O. E. Allen, C. E. Sellers, W. R. Jackson and E. M. Page, all of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Bureau of Agriculture;
George W. Catia, Kansas City
Chamber of Commerce; G. H. Wilkerson, farmer of Hughesville; Owen McVay, president of Missouri Livestock Producers' Association; W. A. Cochran, Kansas City; R. W. Brown, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation;
W. W. Fuqua, member of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation Executive Board. Dean F. B. Mumford of the Missouri College of Agriculture and Dr. Stratton D.
Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, attended in an ex-officio capacity.

Ponders "How Far It Is Safe to Go."
The conference was arranged at the request of McReynolds, following his investigation of conditions at the College of Agriculture. Mc-Reynolds said one of the principal problems of the Survey Commission is "how far it is safe to go" in its recommendations. He said that the recommendations would provide for a 10-year plan of improvement that would reduce immediate costs.

Cochran, who served as chairman of the delegation, said that Missouri is classed as an agricultural State and "in the future it is to the College of Agriculture we must look for leadership in agriculture."
Owen McVay of Trenton, president of the Missouri Livestock Producers' Association, pointed out that farmers "find that following the teachings of the College of Agriculture invariably makes lands produce profitable returns.

"The agricultural college," he pointed out, "is far behind in its livestock program because of lack of funds. Ninety-five per cent of Missouri farmers know nothing of the way to come out of the darkness. We men actually engaged in farming want our College of Agriculture to be as good or better than the others. Comparison with those in other states shows it is not.

"The college is handicapped in many ways. It needs land. The land owned by the college is less than that of the average good farmer of the State. One thousand acres has been suggested. That is less than any college of agriculture in an adjoining state has. The faculty now equals any in the United States, but it needs more members. In the past two years, when agriculture has suffered much, funds have been less than when farmers have been more prosperous."

Says "Money Is Investment."
"I don't listen to any of this talk that agriculture is on its back," George R. Wilkerson, farmer of Hughesville, said. "Every industry in the country is sold on research.
The only way the farms can get the same work done is through the experiment station of the College of Agriculture here. If they can increase the production of corn by one bushel per acre the expense of running the whole college could be paid. The trouble with the Survey Commission is that it doesn't expect the whole cheese; it expects to get cut down. It is a shame, a pity, a disgrace when you consider that Missouri is potentially the greatest agricultural state in the United States and can get no more for its College of Agriculture."

"Appropriation for the College of Agriculture is a long-time investment," George W. Catia, agricultural representative of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, pointed out, "and not an overhead expense."
He quoted statistics showing that in 1919 Missouri had agricultural extension work in 54 counties amounting to $49,770 and that now it has been increased only to 75 counties with expenditures of $148,240.

"There are many demands for information that the College of Agriculture can't meet because of lack of facilities for experiments,"
he said.

Dairy Department Inadequate.
"The dairy building is not in keeping with Missouri's great dairy industry. The college doesn't have enough cattle. Missouri has fewer county agents than any other adjoining state despite the fact that it has more counties." E. M. Page of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce said.

"Dean Mumford's recommendation of $1,000,000 for a 10-year building program is too modest."

300 KILLED IN VOLCANO ERUPTION IN GUATEMALA

by Every Available Means ands Homeless.

By the Associated Press.
GUATEMALA CITY, Nov. 6.—The volcanic eruption of Santa Maria Monday broke out with renewed force yesterday. It is estimated that nearly 300 persons have been killed and 200 injured. The extreme heat in the vicinity of the crater and lava streams made it impossible to determine the damage still being done. It was reported that bodies of persons caught in the flow yesterday could be still seen on the top of the moving streams of lava. A body of a man was seen on a tree branch hanging over one of the streams. His escape had apparently been cut off and he had died from the heat rising from beneath him.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6.—Stories of inhabitants fleeing from a six feet high lava stream pouring from the volcano Santa Maria, with some of them dropping in their tracks, asphyxiated by sulphur gas, to be swallowed up by the molten rock, have been received by Guatemala. Charge d'Affaires Julio Gomez Robles.

His dispatches said that the inhabitants of Mazatzingo and nearby towns were alarmed by underground rumblings on Saturday, which were followed by the eruption and earthquakes. The lava stream then swept over the country, destroying everything in its path, and overtaking many of the fleeing residents. The whole volcanic zone of the Department of Suchite Pequez suffered from the effects. Up to yesterday afternoon 50 bodies had been recovered. The rain of ashes was said to be continuing and covering the whole department and some of the neighboring territory, destroying coffee and other crops. The Government was rushing aid by every available means, including airplanes. Thousands of persons were made homeless and sought refuge in the villages and towns just outside the volcanic zone.

AMERICAN CUSTOMS AGENTS TO RESUME WORK IN PARIS

They Will Assist Exporters in Declaring Value of Goods Shipped to U. S.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 6.—Announcement was made last night that American customs agents will resume activities in determining rates of goods to be exported to the United States, in accordance with the agreement announced in Washington on Oct. 19. Permission for the agents to inspect the books of exporters was withdrawn in November, 1927, at the request of the French Government. Their functions when resumed will consist of offering their services to French exporting houses to declare the export value here on their shipments. Those exporters not taking advantage of this service will find their shipments taxed at valorem at American prices.

Walker Always Late Even to His Wedding

New York Mayor Kept Bride Waiting at Church for Two Hours—He Tried Song Writing Before Entering Politics.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—James J. Walker, ninety-eight Mayor of New York, was said to have entered politics after he had made a try at law, baseball, song writing and a few other things, but as a matter of fact the Mayor inherited politics.

MAYOR JAMES J. WALKER.

His father, William H. Walker, who was born in Dublin and came here as a boy, had left behind him a tradition of Tammany politics as a leader of the Fifth Assembly District, as a member of the Board of Aldermen and later for two terms as an Assemblyman, so the Mayor's familiarity with the subject dates from childhood.

But it was characteristic that he did not step right into the parental path until he had tried several other things, notably song writing. The Mayor was born June 19, 1881, in Leroy street, Greenwich Village. As a boy he attended the parochial school of St. Francis Xavier in Seventeenth street, where he was a star scholar and where he attracted much attention by his ability to make speeches.

Good Ball Player.
He was also famed in his boyhood as a baseball player and his play on the Farm, a vacant piece of land on West street, attracted the managers of the Hoboken semi-professional team, who made him an offer. James played with this team for one season and could have remained, but he gave it up and started serious study.

His father thought he ought to have a good business grounding and Walker went to La Salle College for a year and then to a commercial course, but he left this school and entered New York University and remained three years, got his degree and passed the bar examination. But the law had no attraction for him and he decided to be a banker. Accordingly he got a position in a West Side trust company and while a banker as a side interest he wrote songs, of which his greatest success became nationally popular. It was "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May?"

It was while this song was at its height that Jimmie Walker, who then spent much time about the theatre, met a young woman, Janet Allen, from the Middle West, who had come to New York to seek her fame and fortune on the stage. They met at a rehearsal of a show in which they were to sing and the romance fast developed. Their wedding took place at St. Joseph's Church, Sixth avenue and Washington place, April 11, 1912.

Late on Wedding Day.
Whether the Mayor previously had had any reputation for being late at places, this is the first recorded occasion where his tardiness became famous, for he was late at his own wedding. In strict justice to Walker it may be said that on this occasion the fault was not his own, but that of his best man, Joseph M. Han-non, who was later to become deputy fire commissioner. Hannon was, to be exact, one of those who could not resist the clank of a fire engine going. And on the way to the wedding, with the ring in his pocket, Hannon saw the apparatus on the way to a five-alarm fire, and he went.

Meanwhile in the church the bride and her friends anxiously watched the door and Mr. Edwards, the pastor, paced up and down, and during this time James J. Walker walked up and down in his home at No. 6 St. Luke's place, where he still lives and waited and wondered.

At last the fire was under control and Hannon thought of his duty. Somewhat delayed—to be exact, about two hours—the bridegroom with his invariable good nature arrived and the ceremony went off without further hitch. At that wedding were Alfred E. Smith, then an Assemblyman; Charles F. Murphy, Thomas Foley and State Senator Robert F. Wagner, now United States Senator.

Plays Walker's Own Song.
Mr. Edwards realized that the strains which the organist played, as the bride entered the church were new to him and asked what the air was. The organist, friend and admirer of the bridegroom, was playing "Will You Love Me in December as You Do in May?"

"Tell him not to play it when they are going out," said Mr. Edwards.

Two years earlier Walker had been elected Assemblyman and served five years and then moved to the upper branch of the Legislature for 10 years more. Here, with his friend, Alfred E. Smith, in the Governor's office, he engaged in many legislative battles, fighting for legislation sponsored by his friend. Under his leadership in the Senate much liberal legislation was enacted, including the bill to permit Sunday baseball and the Walker boxing bill, which revived boxing which had been illegal for years.

Mayor Walker entered the mayoral campaign against Frank L. Waterman in 1925, after defeating John F. Hyland in the primaries, and took the office by an overwhelming plurality.

BROOKHART TELLS GRAND JURY ABOUT "WALL ST. PARTY"

Iowa Senator, Who Yesterday in Senate Described Wet Dinner, Is Before Inquisitors 15 Minutes.

HOWELL PREPARING DRY LAW ATTACK

Nebraskan Plans Sequel to Speech in Which He Said Responsibility Rested With Hoover.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Senator Smith, W. Brookhart of Iowa today appeared before a District of Columbia grand jury to tell of the "Wall street booze party" given for a number of members of Congress, the details of which he gave to the Senate yesterday in demanding an improvement in enforcement conditions throughout the country.

The Senator today had nothing to say to newspapermen about his appearance at the Courthouse, having announced in his Senate speech yesterday that he contemplated such action.

Brookhart remained before the grand jury about 15 minutes and when he left had nothing to say. Prior to his appearance before the jurors he had conferred with District Attorney Hoyer.

Before his appearance before the grand jury Brookhart suggested the jury should summon a number of the "Wall street financiers," including W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Otto Kahn, New York International banker, to testify concerning the party. Besides Atterbury and Kahn, the Iowa Senator mentioned, E. E. Loomis, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and the host, Walter Fahy, New York broker, should be called.

Brookhart said it was "in the hands of the grand jury" whether subpoenas would be issued for the "Wall Streeters" mentioned by Brookhart.

Meanwhile, another Midwestern Senator prepared to assail the administration of dry laws in the nation's capital.

Robert H. Howell (Rep., Nebr.) was drafting an address for delivery from the Senate floor as a sequel to his speech of more than a month ago in which he made charges of non-enforcement and said the responsibility lay with President Hoover.

EDITOR INSISTS ON SENTENCE FOR COURT CONTEMPT

Frederick Sullens of Jackson (Miss.) Daily News Declines Offer of Judge for Probation.

THAT IS EQUAL TO CENSORSHIP, HE SAYS

He Was Cited by Federal Jurist for Articles Written on Patronage Sale Trials.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 6.—Major Frederick Sullens, editor of the Jackson Daily News, found guilty Monday of criminal contempt of the United States District Court by Judge Edwin R. Holmes, has been given the choice of appearing in court Wednesday for sentence, or accepting a suspended sentence and go under probation pending good behavior.

The editor, convicted of contempt on a citation growing out of articles published in connection with the Federal patronage trials, in which he predicted acquittals of the defendants, declared in an editorial yesterday that he would not go under probation.

"If Judge Holmes believes that the editor of the Daily News deserves to be vacated under 'probation' or held like an ordinary criminal pending 'good behavior' then we most respectfully invite him to impose any sentence he may see fit, and the question will be fought out in the court of last resort," the editorial reads.

Acceptance of probation would be tantamount to the inauguration of a Federal censorship over his newspaper, he declared.

Sullens said he intended to stand squarely on the constitutional guaranty of the liberty of the press, "in spite of insidious encroachments by Congress, Federal courts and State courts."

He said: "Judge Holmes denied any intention of attempting to impose a censorship. Probation was granted because he believed the editor would thereby best be attained, said the judge. It is not extended to defendants who do not desire it, he added.

"Probation implies a promise of an editor not to commit further violations of a similar character," reads the amended opinion. "If the defendant desires probation on these terms, he may have it. Otherwise, let him appear in court for sentence next Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 9 o'clock."

The editor and the judge have been personal friends for more than a quarter of a century, and his editorial and the opinion are couched in friendly, but emphatic terms.

"This court only desires to be permitted to proceed with the manner, free of outside interference, obstructive of its constitutional functions," declared Judge Holmes.

In response to this, the editor declared he "only desired to be permitted to publish the happenings of the day, truthfully and fearlessly, making such comment thereon as the judgment of the editor may dictate." There is no limit to the punishment that can be fixed, Judge Holmes announced.

BRITAIN'S INDIAN PLAN FAVORABLY RECEIVED

Announcement of Desire to Grant Dominion Status Flow to Independence Move.

By the Associated Press.
NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 6.—Comment on the Viceroy's declaration of Nov. 1 that the British Government desired to grant dominion status to India in time indicates that the favorable response to a Federal declaration over his newspaper, he declared.

Sullens said he intended to stand squarely on the constitutional guaranty of the liberty of the press, "in spite of insidious encroachments by Congress, Federal courts and State courts."

He said: "Judge Holmes denied any intention of attempting to impose a censorship. Probation was granted because he believed the editor would thereby best be attained, said the judge. It is not extended to defendants who do not desire it, he added.

In response to this, the editor declared he "only desired to be permitted to publish the happenings of the day, truthfully and fearlessly, making such comment thereon as the judgment of the editor may dictate." There is no limit to the punishment that can be fixed, Judge Holmes announced.

Most of the Indian newspapers, while awaiting the final verdict of Indian politicians, welcome the announcement as a wise step toward finding the way out of the political impasse.

Both progressive political opinion and press opinion are being lowered.

COMMONS APPROVES NEW PACT WITH SOVIET

Vote Is 324 to 199 in Favor

CHECK PLACED ON PROPAGANDA

Proviso Declares Commu-

Government.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.
LONDON, Nov. 6.—The House of Commons last night approved, by a vote of 324 to 199, resumption of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Soviet Russia, as negotiated by Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, and Premier MacDonald's Labor Government.

The Conservatives opposed resumption of relations with Moscow, but the new Labor Government had the support of the Liberals.

The vote was taken on an amendment to a motion presented by Henderson. This motion asked for approval of the tentative agreement made by himself and Valerian Kuhlman, Soviet envoy, for an exchange of ambassadors preliminary to discussion of differences between the two countries. The amendment was rejected and Henderson's motion carried.

It is expected that announcement of the new British Ambassador to Russia will be made here soon.

New Commercial Treaty.
The Labor Government intends to negotiate a new commercial treaty with the Soviet to replace that negotiated by the first MacDonald Government in 1924.

The most important feature of Henderson's declaration to the House was a statement that he had informed Russia, in connection with a mutual pledge to refrain from propaganda, that the British Government regards the Communist International as an integral part of the Soviet Government.

His statement in connection with this statement is that Great Britain is no longer prepared to accept from the Russian Government the old excuse—when a stimulus act of anti-British propaganda has been discovered—that it is the work of the Communist International over which the Soviet has no control and with which it is not associated.

To Tolerate No Propaganda.
To charges of former Premier Baldwin that he had made a most humiliating surrender, the Secretary replied that the Government did not intend to recommend that Parliament pledge the credit of British taxpayers to any loan raised by the Soviet Government. He announced that Soviet propaganda would not be tolerated in any form at any time and said that all of the dominions, except

New Commercial Treaty.
The Labor Government intends to negotiate a new commercial treaty with the Soviet to replace that negotiated by the first MacDonald Government in 1924.

The most important feature of Henderson's declaration to the House was a statement that he had informed Russia, in connection with a mutual pledge to refrain from propaganda, that the British Government regards the Communist International as an integral part of the Soviet Government.

His statement in connection with this statement is that Great Britain is no longer prepared to accept from the Russian Government the old excuse—when a stimulus act of anti-British propaganda has been discovered—that it is the work of the Communist International over which the Soviet has no control and with which it is not associated.

To Tolerate No Propaganda.
To charges of former Premier Baldwin that he had made a most humiliating surrender, the Secretary replied that the Government did not intend to recommend that Parliament pledge the credit of British taxpayers to any loan raised by the Soviet Government. He announced that Soviet propaganda would not be tolerated in any form at any time and said that all of the dominions, except

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

THE BLACK CHRIST AND OTHER POEMS. By Countess Culpeper. (Harper's.)

The title poem of this latest collection by the well-known Negro poet is some 40 pages long and is a study in the lynchings of the South. The first 10 pages are filled with bitter questioning as to why the Negro is so much unjustly treated. The poet is a good boy, and the narrator has a young man who speaks throughout. The poet is a good boy, and the narrator has a young man who speaks throughout. The poet is a good boy, and the narrator has a young man who speaks throughout.

Mr. George C. Baldwin of the Post-Dispatch has brought to the writer's attention a copy of "The Western Gazetteer," which was the property of his grandfather, who came to this region in 1831. It was copyrighted and published in the forty-first year of the independence of the United States.

The following description of St. Louis as it appeared in 1831 makes curious reading now: "St. Louis, the largest town of the territory, and at present the seat of government, stands on a high bank, 15 miles below the entrance of the Missouri. The buildings are scattered along three parallel streets, extending upwards of two miles along the river, and each rising above the other, which gives the town a neat and romantic appearance. Most of the houses are built of stone and whitewashed on the outside. Almost every house has an extensive garden or park, around which high stone walls are built. Some of the buildings are very high and costly and surrounded with galleries. The population exceeds 20,000. There is a bank, a printing office, postoffice and Roman chapel. It already enjoys a handsome trade, and from its local advantages promises to become a rich and populous city. The country around and west of St. Louis is for 15 miles an extended prairie of very luxuriant soil and in a high state of cultivation. There is a ferry from this town to the Illinois side of the Mississippi; from hence passes the main road to Kaskaskia."

THE VICAR OF WAKEFIELD. By Oliver Goldsmith. (McKay.) A beautiful holiday edition with a dozen full-page illustrations in color and many black and white drawings by Arthur Rackham.

PILOTS' LUCK. By Clayton Knight. (McKay.) Vivid color drawings of air combats accompanied by excerpts from stories by Elliott White Springs, Capt. Roy Brown, Floyd Gibbons and Norman Hall.

THE REAL PICTURE BOOK. (Rand-McNally.) No doubt many a very young person, in looking at the colored frontispiece of a story book, has wished for a book that had nothing but gorgeous frontispieces in it, and that is what we have here. There is some text, but just enough to explain the pictures and not enough to be a nuisance.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. A few deceased poets are stuffed anywhere, although the grist-mill-Victorian custom is not entirely extinct. Almost every front parlor 30 years ago had a mounted pug dog with mad bulging glass eyes as a gesture in sentimentality.

In those days about 500 pug dogs a year were turned over to metropolitan taxidermists, but a snooper discovers there is no record of one being stuffed since 1905. But taxidermy still languishes. Some half-hundred are left, most of them centering about Sixth avenue and in sections of Brooklyn.

The modern taxidermist is concerned almost exclusively with the trophies of hunters and fishermen. These are the shellacked and horned atrocities hanging over capacious fireplaces or bristling in the walls of clubs. Here and there one still sees heads of mountain sheep, buffalo and moose.

But the taxidermist's biggest trade comes from fishermen. This requires not only a knowledge of taxidermy but painting. When mounted, a fish loses pristine coloring and it requires a delicate skill in tinting to give it a semblance of natural hues.

There were in the flourishing years of taxidermy customers with the queer urge for such stuffed pets as monkeys, white mice, horned toads, chicken hawks, weasels, prairie dogs and such, along with the run of parrots, canaries and domesticated cats.

The biggest blow to taxidermy came from the many societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals and birds and for their preservation. Hunters who used to shoot such rare birds as robins, bluebirds, etc., just to have them stuffed for the parlor mantle faced legal entanglements.

Few taxidermists grew rich. The rewards for the tedious processes involved were small. Yet it proved such a fascinating calling that none ever deserted it. The oldest taxidermy establishment is that of Thomas Rowland, now conducted by his son, and in existence 68 years.

ONE of America's outstanding travel experts has never been abroad. In private, he is Ward G. Foster, but to the traveling public he has been sloganized into fame by "Ask Mr. Foster!" There are 73 branches of his information bureau scattered all over the world. In the beginning Mr. Foster was the prosaic keeper of a small book shop in St. Augustine, Fla. For amusement he amassed information for tourists who dropped in during early Florida days. It became a town fest that when any hotel, railroad or steamship clerk were stumped they would say: "Ask Mr. Foster!" Out of this hobby, the young man—he is now 62—capitalized an idea that made him a tremendous fortune.

AS ONE who utterly failed to choke off a clipping bureau from sending cuttings—at 7 cents per cut—about the activities of McIntyre and Heath, it is perfectly dandy to record that John Held, the artist, recently received one bearing the headline: "Stage Door John Held by The Police."

Gov. Roosevelt Sponsors Plan for Treating 300,000 Infantile Paralysis Patients

With Warm Springs, Ga., Colony as Model He Hopes to See Development in Other Parts of Country.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 8.—Pioneering in a new field of philanthropy, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York has developed here a sanatorium for the treatment of infantile paralysis which he hopes to see duplicated in other parts of the United States until facilities are provided for the 300,000 or more men, women and children who are crippled by the disease.

During the four years that the Warm Springs colony has been developing, Gov. Roosevelt has been the moving spirit. His own experience as a victim of the 1921 epidemic and the personal benefit he derived from the Warm Springs pool prompted him to organize the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation which acquired 1200 acres surrounding the pool and erected a group of essential buildings.

Although the Warm Springs colony has developed rapidly, its facilities are extremely limited and the waiting list is long. As yet no provision has been made for "free" patients, although some of the 80 men, women and children now being cared for are given partial assistance in paying their share of the cost about $43 a week.

Others Follow Example.
Gov. Roosevelt "discovered" Warm Springs in 1934, when he was a vice presidential candidate. A friend referred him to the pool and he found his condition measurably improved after two months of bathing. The next spring he returned and found a group of handicapped men and women who had been drawn to Warm Springs by a newspaper account of his previous trip.

Gov. Roosevelt negotiated for the purchase of the 1200-acre place, then an abandoned resort, opened a few cottages and induced a local physician and a few physiotherapists to start systematic treatment. Returning to New York, he engaged Dr. LeRoy Hubbard, chief orthopedic surgeon of the New York State Board of Health, to take charge of the colony.

The result of the experiment was the organization of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, Inc., in 1937, with headquarters in New York. The foundation is now seeking a fund of $1,250,000 to clear indebtedness, build new units in the colony and to establish a patients' aid fund and a maintenance fund.

At present the colony, though small, is complete. The old inn is used as an administration, and social headquarters. There are 15 cottages owned by patients; a dozen modern patient cottages; 15 miles of private roads and bridge paths; an auditorium; a brick infirmary; tennis courts; a golf course; riding horses, as well as three large concrete pools which form the backbone of the institution.

Treatment by Exercise.
The staff consists of Dr. Hubbard as resident surgeon-in-chief; Miss Helen Mahoney as head nurse, and 12 women physiotherapists who administer the treatments. Strict rules are enforced as to methods and regularity of treatment and physical behavior of the patients.

The treatment consists simply of prescribed exercises in the pools—lying and sitting in submerged tables, holding onto bars at the sides of the pool, and play in the water through the morning; an hour's rest in the afternoon, followed by walking, climbing and lifting exercises, supper and to bed at 10:30 p. m.

The water supply consists of natural springs of hot water, flowing at the rate of about 2000 gallons a minute. They were used by the Cherokee Indians 200 years ago for rejuvenation and according to Gov. Roosevelt and his colleagues are the best medium for the after-care treatment of infantile paralysis victims.

Can Accommodate 80.
The present population of 80 is the maximum that the colony can accommodate. Since it was established, 273 persons have taken treatments for periods averaging a little more than 31 continuous weeks each. No new cases are accepted unless at the request of the patient's physician plus a statement that the physician believes the treatment will be beneficial in the particular instance.

McNAB TO FINISH DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT DRAFT SOON

Expected Soon to Submit to Hoover Measure to Transfer Enforcement.
By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The draft of a statute transferring the Federal Prohibition Bureau from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice will be in the hands of President Herbert Hoover late this month, John L. McNab, San Francisco attorney, recently authorized to draft the statute, said yesterday.

McNab said there are only a few points still to be taken into consideration and he hopes to complete his work so that the President may take the matter up when Congress convenes Dec. 10.

McNab's statute does not provide for any change in the Volstead act or any other enforcement laws. Change of administration to the Department of Justice is part of the program announced by President Hoover.

"We are not offering a cure-all," says Gov. Roosevelt, "but we are making sufficient improvement in the patients to enable them to function in life."
"I think that most crippled children or adults, are worth taking an interest in. Economically, restorative work is sound; humanely, it is right. It is reaching out to a field that no other agency is now adequately caring for. We need pioneers."

SECOND MISSOURI CONVICT DIES OF SPINAL MENINGITIS

Harold Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence County is Victim of Disease; Quarantine in Force.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6.—Harold Kirkpatrick, convict from Lawrence County, died today in the prison isolation hospital from spinal meningitis. He is the second victim in the last five days. Kirkpatrick contracted the disease shortly after the death of Henry Kern, Newton County convict, Saturday.

The prison has been quarantined since last week, and all convicts who have been in contact with the two victims are receiving preventive treatment. No visitors are permitted and no new convicts are received, but daily tasks inside the prison continue.

Gov. Caulfield yesterday directed Dr. James Stewart, State Health Commissioner, to use every means to check the disease. No new cases have been discovered.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY GROUP TO MEET IN CITY NEXT WEEK

Possibilities of Increasing Commerce Through River Development to be Discussed.

Possibilities for increasing domestic commerce through improvement of inland waterways will be emphasized at the convention of the Mississippi Valley Association here next Monday and Tuesday.

The upper Missouri Valley, as an example cited, has 500,000,000 tons of manganese ore which only needs low cost transportation to make it marketable. Market for ore is in the industrial Ohio Valley with its steel manufacture and chemical industries.

Former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, who is general counsel for the association, announced that refrigeration barges, capable of carrying 50 to 60 carloads of vegetables apiece, are being developed and will be ready for use by the time the Texas intra-coastal canal is completed.

SCENT LEADS TO SEIZURE OF STILL ON GARRISON AV.

Firemen Pump 10,000 Gallons of Mash Into Sewer; One Man Arrested.

Police and Federal agents raided the residence at 1250 North Garrison avenue this afternoon, seized a large still which was in operation in the basement and 60 gallons of alcohol, and arrested John Mosini, who said he lived at 1224 Edwards street.

They also found in the basement a concrete vat six feet deep and 18 feet square, containing 10,000 gallons of whiskey mash, which the Fire Department pumped into a sewer. Mosini, who was in charge of the still, said a man he had never seen before had hired him this morning. The raiders had a search warrant, obtained after two policemen had detected an alcoholic odor coming from the basement.

OLD WINE STOCKS INQUIRY
Doran Seeks Solution of California Storage Problem.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—An inquiry into the wine storage situation in California looking to the legitimate disposal of old wine stocks has been initiated by Prohibition Commissioner Doran at the instance of Representative Lea (Rep., California).

Frank R. McReynolds, field supervisor at Los Angeles, will conduct the inquiry. Hundreds of owners of old wines in California who have paid out large sums of money since the prohibition law was enacted, Lea said, for storage have appealed to him to help find a method of disposing of the stocks legally. The sales of wine for sacramental and medicinal purposes were insufficient, he said, to meet the expense involved in storing the wines.

New Facts about Oil

revealed by conclusive Speedway Tests

Thousands of miles of test driving by trained drivers in representative types of cars brings to light three things of tremendous importance.

Highways Your Skyways!

Sky-Hy is a made-to-order motor fuel for the man who wants to get rid of compression knocks without sacrificing power and easy starting. It's an anti-knock, high-test gasoline that's worth a whole lot more than the little extra it costs. Suppose you try a tank-full—today!

Picture the Atlantic City Speedway! Representative types of cars are on the track and trained drivers sit behind the wheels. Day and night, the cars keep rolling along...in breath-taking spurts...at a snail's pace...in a long, gruelling grind at 50, 60, even 70 miles an hour. Simply that men might know which oil will stand up longest—which oil will lubricate best—under all driving conditions.

Remember that virtually every well-known brand of oil was represented in these tests—and that each oil was subjected to the same driving conditions, in the same cars, by the same drivers, over the same course. And that the performance of each brand was carefully checked by experienced oil men.

As a result, Mobiloil engineers are now able to state—definitely and positively—that the new Mobiloil will stand up longer and lubricate better at high speeds than any other oil you can buy. And it is an established engineering fact that the oil which stands up longest at high speeds, lubricates best at all speeds.

DRIVERS IN THREE AUTO CRASHES SPEED AWAY

Two Women Injured—Two of Motorists Fail to Stop.

Two women were injured yesterday by motorists who failed to stop at a red light. One woman was knocked down by a driver who helped her to the hospital and then drove off. Miss Olga Hemple of 1705 Laayette avenue, a dressmaker, was hit by a car bearing an Indiana license plate, as she was crossing Le-cade avenue in the 4100 block, suffering a fractured left leg and internal injuries. The driver assisted her to the sidewalk and then left her, promising to return when he had parked his car next to the curb. Instead, he drove away. Mrs. Kate Fendelman, 3854 Page boulevard, suffered a fractured right leg and internal injuries when struck by a sedan as she was crossing Page boulevard at Vandeventer avenue.

Botanical avenue. She was taken home. John H. Trout Jr. of 6307 Arsenal street suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when hit by an automobile driven by John Zachels Jr. of 2764 Tamm avenue as he was playing in the street in the 6200 block of Odell avenue. Frank Fredericks, an electrician of 2755 Garrison avenue, suffered a fractured skull when hit by the automobile of Richard Hammer, 4015A North Twenty-first street, as he was crossing Franklin avenue at High street.

Mrs. Delores Mosseth and Mrs. Kate Hunt, both of 2611A Lucky street, were hit by an automobile driven by Richard Hugo, a clerk of 5731A Spalding avenue, as they were crossing Easton avenue at

Two Senators Named for Conkling. WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The Senate will have two Republican

Senators named after Senator Roscoe Conkling of New York, a Republican leader of 40 years ago, when Roscoe Conkling McCulloch of Ohio takes his seat next week. Senator Patterson of Missouri, also has the name Roscoe Conkling.

Both Patterson and McCulloch, who has been appointed to succeed the late Senator Burton of Ohio, were born when the New York Re-publican leader, Roscoe Conkling, was at the height of his stormy career in the late '70s.

ANOTHER LA FOLLETTE BOOMED

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Nov. 6.—Progressive Republican members of the legislature meeting here yesterday indicated their favor toward the candidacy of Philip La Follette, brother of United States Senator Robert M. La Follette, for Governor of Wisconsin in 1930. No definite indorsement, however, was made. If selected by the Progressives, young La Follette would seek the office now held by Walter J. Kohler, millionaire manufacturer and a Republican.

One day his "best friend" said, "Jim, I'm appointing you my executor and trustee." In a moment of weakness he consented. Now he has received word that the friend is dead, and he is responsible for the finances of another home in addition to his own.

Placed in his situation, what would you do first? There are more than thirty things the executor must do, and all of them require technical knowledge and precious time. Could you assume this great responsibility and still give proper attention to your own business and personal affairs? It is not likely. Looking at it from this viewpoint, would you appoint an individual executor in your will.

No, the Trust Company offers the modern and efficient method of estate administration. May we explain the many advantages?

Extending the Limits of Man's Opportunity

Power has lightened the farmer's burdens and shortened
the miles to town

ONLY A FEW generations ago the life of man was circumscribed by his own physical limitations . . . the dexterity of his fingers, the strength of his back, the speed of his limbs, and the labor of domestic animals.

The interchange of commodities was slow, difficult. There were no good roads, as we know them today, nor any way to travel swiftly, surely, over these roads. The deeply rutted wagon trail was a long, hard trail.

Though boundless acres were all about, it was only the adventurous few who traveled far. Many a man lived and died without ever having been more than fifty miles from home.

Then was born an idea that was destined to reshape the frontiers and the future of the entire country—the idea of making a small, strong, simple automobile so low in price that it might be placed within the means of all the people.

The coming of this new means of transportation not only changed the industrial life of the nation, but helped to change the private lives of every one for all the generations to come.

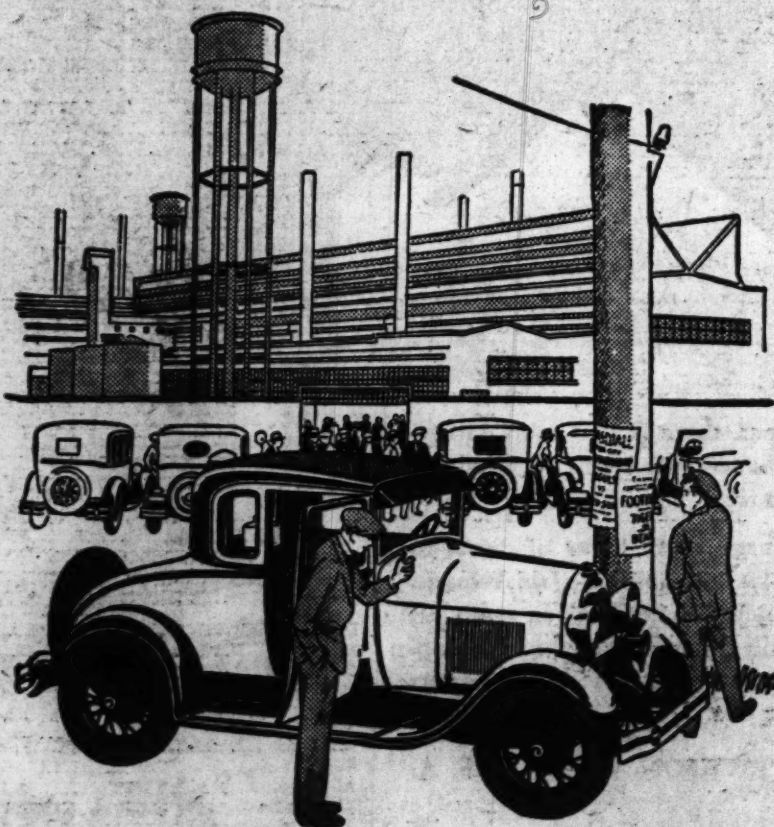

It leveled hills, extended horizons, created new opportunities, furnished the means to earn more money and to enjoy the leisure which that increased income should bring.

In creating and building a small, strong, simple automobile at a low price, and in using it, man became accustomed to thinking of machinery as a servant. He made power work for him.

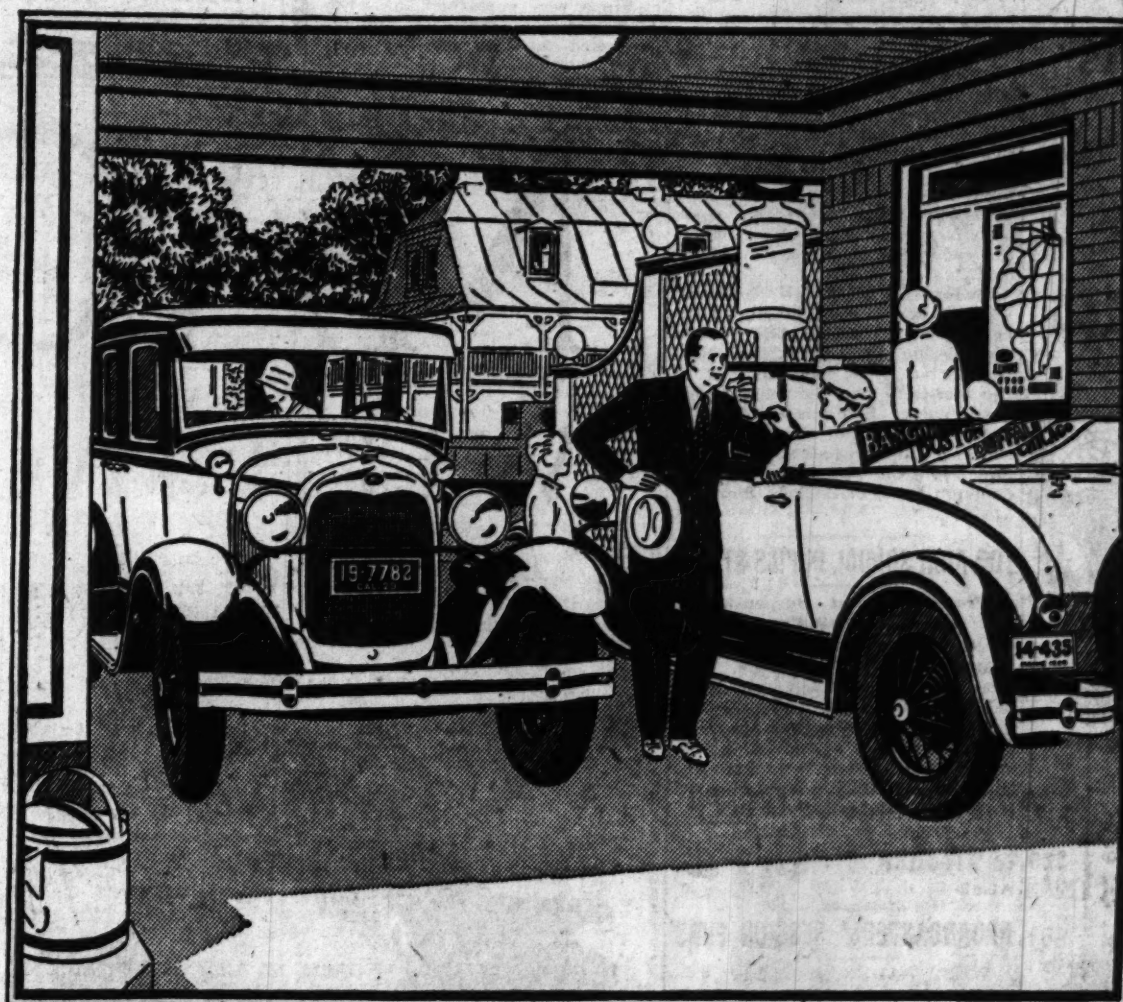

More and more as time went on, in industrial plants and on the farm, heavy labor was taken off the back of man and placed upon the broader shoulders of the machine.

The Ford moved everywhere, blazing the way over miry roads and rocky mountain trails, through gumbo and sand, creating a rising demand for swifter, smoother travel that resulted in the construction of hundreds of thousands of miles of cement and macadam highways reaching to all parts of the country.

The benefits resulting from the introduction of the low-priced automobile have done more than perhaps any other single thing to increase the standards of living and to make this a truly united country.

To all men—everywhere

All the people are blended together by the flexibility and swiftness of automotive transportation. The prairie farmer, the industrial worker and the city business man are governed by similar impulses, similar tastes, similar demands upon highly specialized machinery to serve them.

This civilization can show no greater example of disciplined machinery than in the operation of the Ford Industries.

The great miracle is not the car, but the machines that make the machine—the methods that make it possible to build such a fine car, in large numbers, at a low price.

Craftsmanship has been put into mass production. Millions and millions of parts are made—each one so accurate and so exactly like the other that they fit perfectly to the thousandth of an inch when brought together for assembly into complete units.

Men by the thousands and the hundred thousand are employed at the Rouge plant alone and there are hundreds of acres of plant equipment. Yet the purpose today is wholly the same as when the equipment of the Ford organization was housed in a single small building.

Everything that has been done has been done to give further scope and expression to the Ford Idea.

That idea is not merely to make automobiles—not merely to create so much additional machinery and so many millions of additional horse-power—but to make this a better world in which to live through providing economical transportation for all the people.

For that purpose the first Model T was made twenty-one years ago. For that purpose the new Ford is made today. In 1929, as in 1908, it is again helping to reshape the frontiers and the future of the country and to further extend the limits of man's opportunity.

SEEKS STATE SANCTION FOR ITS LACLEDE DEAL

Chicago Holding Company Asks for Permission to Acquire Control.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6.—Utilities Power & Light Co. of Chicago, a holding company, yesterday filed application with the State Public Service Commission for permission to acquire and own more than 10 per cent of the stock of the Laclede Gas Light Co. and the Laclede Power & Light Co. of St. Louis, both operating companies.

Utilities Power & Light Co. has owned control of the two St. Louis companies since 1926 through its ownership of the stock of the Laclede Gas & Electric Co., the Delaware holding company which was organized by Charles A. Munroe after he took control of the interests and started the revaluation program which enabled him and his associates to sell out with a profit of about $7,000,000.

Munroe had obtained for his Laclede Gas & Electric Co. authority to own more than 10 per cent of the stock of the operating companies, but now the new owner, Utilities Power & Light, desires to wipe out the intermediate holding company, Laclede Gas & Electric, and become the direct owner of the operating companies. Its plans to do this were told in the Post-Dispatch last Feb. 22 and all financial arrangements necessary to the plan have been made, the parent company having arranged to pay off all the securities of the intermediate company.

Under the State law, however, Utilities Power & Light must have permission of the Public Service Commission before it can have transferred to it the holdings of the company that is being wiped out. These holdings are 66,616 shares of common stock and 703 shares of preferred stock of Laclede Gas Light Co. and 9452 shares of common stock of Laclede Power & Light Co.

BOROUGH CONTROL OF 70 YEARS BY ONE FAMILY IS BROKEN

Harry Tiernan Defeated for County Judge in New York; Succeeded Father.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Yesterday's city election brought to an end the judicial control of Richmond Borough which one family has held for an unbroken period of 76 years. For the first time in 18 years County Judge and Surrogate J. Harry Tiernan, who succeeded his father, Peter Tiernan, will go out of office on Jan. 1.

The defeat of this veteran, the regular Democratic candidate, regular came as a surprise to the organization Democrats and Republicans alike, as brought about by a comparatively young lawyer, Thomas F. Cosgrove, who as a World War Lieutenant, 11 years ago yesterday, lost his right leg during the drive in Alsace-Lorraine.

W. B. QUIGLEY FILES ANSWER TO WIFE'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Action of Denver Attorney Removes Possibility of Reconciliation.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 6.—All possibility of a reconciliation between William Bryan Quigley, New York and Denver lawyer, and his wife, Mrs. Virginia Coxe Quigley, appeared ended today by action of Quigley in filing an answer to charges of his wife in a recent divorce suit. Possibility that they might become reconciled was suggested after Quigley shot himself while visiting at the apartment of his estranged wife, Oct. 17. Quigley still is in a hospital and almost daily is visited by Mrs. Quigley. These visits caused a belief there might be a reconciliation.

In addition to the divorce action, Quigley is defendant in a $50,000 alienation of affections suit filed several months ago by the husband of Mrs. Marie Kunkle, the former Princess Marie Alimova of Russia.

TO HEAR a great orchestra rise to exalted heights with the FACE-TO-FACE REALISM of the new Sparton instruments is to experience the supreme thrill of all radio.

For here is something more than power... something mightier than mere volume. It is a magnificent blending of every instrument with a tone fidelity and fullness that is new and astounding to those who have never experienced the delights of FACE-TO-FACE REALISM. It is the orchestra itself... sitting before you... afire with the leadership of its inspired conductor.

Nor is the marvel of FACE-TO-FACE REALISM in its power alone. Even when... at a beat of the baton... the music sinks to a

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by unpleasant breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to cleanse the system really weaken it. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription to produce elimination. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his 40 years of practice at Mountbelle, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children, thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it really corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first prescribed his prescription to be put in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

WILL DURANT TALKS ON 10 GREAT THINKERS

Tells of Peadillos of Each—Comments on 1929 Politics and Morals.

Bitingly satiric, full of ironic anecdote, occasionally grave, Will Durant, one-time obscure Latin professor who leaped to fame with his "Story of Philosophy," discussed contemporaneity and great thinkers of history last night before an audience of 650 at the Y. M. H. A., 724 Union boulevard.

His theme was "The Ten Greatest Thinkers." But his discourses on powerful minds long dead included estimates of the state of morals in America, judgments on New York City politics, and emphatic expression of the opinion that the Republican party did not want Hoover at the last election and does not enjoy having him now.

Durant spoke of the thoughts of great men with awe and then amusingly related their peadillos. The extraordinary philosophic power of Confucius, he pointed out, failed to win the Chinese Duke of Loo from dalliance with the fairest maids of Cathay. The latter, he said, had been subsidized by "the gangsters of China," who feared the Confucian influence.

He pictured the great mathematician, Sir Isaac Newton, on the day he was going to be married, pausing to change his clothes and falling asleep while his bride waited at the church. On another occasion, he said, Newton attempted to boil an egg, but instead boiled his watch, holding the egg in his hand.

When He Opened Locket. Voltaire, he said, like most men with powerful minds, was annoyed to discover intelligence in a woman. The great French free-thinker on one occasion, he said, carried a locket from the death-bed of a woman he loved and opened it only to find in it the picture of another man. Aristotle was a Beau Brummel, the best-dressed man in Athens, and Plato, man of great brain, earned his name—Plato—because of his broad back.

Copernicus, said Durant, whose system of astronomy meant the end of the Middle Ages, had demanded a new conception of God, was simple, Polish priest, of extraordinary piety, who would have burnt his books had he believed they might give later comfort to skeptics.

Sir Francis Bacon, who fathered the system of thought that made modern science, with its attention to detail, possibly, unfortunately was given to taking bribes as Chancellor of England, the speaker related.

His Ten Thinkers.
Of Spinoza, Durant spoke eloquently, comparing him to Jesus. The latter he did not include in his list of great thinkers because Jesus had an objective beyond knowledge, the saving of souls. Thinkers in his list, he explained, were men concerned only with understanding life. His list included:

1. Confucius (Chinese).
2. Plato (Greek).
3. Aristotle (Greek).
4. Copernicus (Pole).
5. Sir Francis Bacon (English).
6. Spinoza (Dutch-Jewish).
7. Sir Isaac Newton (English).
8. Voltaire (French).
9. Immanuel Kant (German).
10. Charles Darwin (English).

Confucius was rated first in time and in the extent of his influence. All of Confucius, he declared, can be read and enjoyed today. The solidity of Chinese character, he said, is due to this thinker, who, if he returned, would applaud Chinese revolutionaries for tearing down his statue, because, a realist, according to Durant, he would have been annoyed at being made a god.

Plato he included, because the Plato of the dialogues was the very soul of the Renaissance and the influence of the high ideal of government in Plato's "Republic." Aristotle held the mind of Europe for centuries, he said, and his philosophy of the "golden mean" helped form nineteenth-century Englishmen of the better classes. Copernicus told man that his little world was small indeed, that he was not the center of the cosmos. Spinoza, he championed for his determinism, the belief that the individual must be responsible for his acts to himself, but must assume non-responsibility in others. Voltaire, he praised as the greatest intellectual fighter of all time. Kant he included for his sense of "the inner reality," the soul argument that mechanists have never been able to answer, he said. Darwin he named for the theory of evolution which, he said, "the churches will accept gratefully 100 years from now," although scientists today, while accepting the hypothesis that life-forms evolve, do not accept Darwin's theory of how this occurs.

Era of Trial and Error.

Of modernity, Durant said: "Morality has suffered the loss of a theologic basis. Our moral code was based on an avenging deity and now the deity has gone. Everything that a few years ago was considered evil, terrible and punishable, today is more or less found good by the younger generation. The younger generation, living in a moral chaos, are embarking on a sort of trial and error experimentation with life, and many of them are spoiling their lives. In two or three more generations, we may achieve a new moral code. Today it is moral chaos."

Of New York City politics: "They will re-elect, by at least 400,000 majority, the worst Mayor New York ever had."

Of a past President of the United States, he said he "was like the East Indian conception of Nirvana, living as little as possible," and of Hoover, he said: "I do not believe the Republicans wanted him at Kansas City and I do not believe they want him now. He is honorable, decent, intelligent, highly-visioned, and these are regrettable characteristics, from the party standpoint, for any public officer."

KAISER'S GAME STAND AGAINST SHEA FEATURES FIRST ARENA SHOW

18,000 PERSONS PAY $35,000 TO WITNESS BOUTS; ABAD AND ROUTIS IN DISAPPOINTING FIGHT

By Damon Kirby
With two former world champions on the card, and two other boxers who rank with the recognized leaders, it remained for the veteran Peewee Kaiser to be the life of the party at a gathering which numbered 18,000 persons last night at the arena. The crowd paid approximately $35,000 to view the fight card, the first to be held in the arena.

The attendance set a new high record for indoor sporting events in St. Louis, the previous high mark being 15,000, which was set at the London-Stecher wrestling match at the Coliseum in 1927. Until last night the largest attendance for a boxing card here was 9,000. This was made at the Jack Renault-Sully Montgomery fight card at the Coliseum in 1925.

No, Kaiser did not win his fight, in fact, he came about as close to being knocked out as a fighter could come without meeting that unhappy ending. But the manner in which the veteran St. Louis fighter staved off the knockout from the hands of Eddie Shea of Chicago, will probably be remembered after the other fights on the card are forgotten.

Speaking of the other bouts, it might be in order to record the doings of Davey Abad and Andre Routis, as these boys fought the advertised main event. Briefly, they made a miserable showing, due to the fact that Routis, who lost the world featherweight championship only a few weeks ago, was utterly unable to cope with Abad's style, or it may have been the other way around. Routis was warned repeatedly for holding, and why he should hold was a mystery, for Abad hasn't a punch that would cause an average journeyman boxer to block by holding.

Routis struggled through 10 rounds some way without being forced out of the ring by Referee Shea. He had a defense that was all elbows. Occasionally he threw out a right in the general direction of Abad with no noticeable effect, if one landed. The Frenchman seemed to try hard, but somehow he just didn't click. Abad couldn't even get a chance to bounce up and down and rebound off the ropes—something that St. Louis fans have always looked forward to since his first appearance here last winter. It was Abad's fight.

Base Knocks Out Mendo.
Benny Bass' appearance was very brief, but to the point. He knocked out Jimmy Mendo of Pittsburgh in the first of his scheduled 10-round bout. Mendo was called on short notice to substitute for Peewee Pissano, who was kept out of the card by an infection. A right to the jaw brought down Mendo for the full count, after he had taken nine from a right back of the ear. Pissano, who looked to be around 35 years old, was entirely out of his place in going against Bass.

But to get back to Kaiser and his successful staving off a knockout. Kaiser was knocked from his feet four times by the squat Shea, an Italian, who has a sock in either hand. Between knockdowns, Peewee took a terrific pounding around the midsection, but a fighter who won't be knocked out can't be knocked out, and that probably is as good a reason as any why Kaiser was on his feet at the final bell.

The bout started fast, Kaiser and Shea meeting in the center of the ring and playing a tattoo on each other's ribs. Shea had some respect for Johnny's right—which Peewee didn't unlimber all evening—and the Chicagoan grabbed gloves when he thought Johnny was in position to fire with both barrels. The first was one of the three even rounds of the fight.

Mixing freely in the second, Shea caught Johnny with a right uppercut and Kaiser dropped to the floor. He stayed down for a full count of nine, and his chances to last out the round when he got up didn't look worth a plugged nickel. But somehow he weathered the storm and had recovered from the knockdown to all outward appearances when the third round opened.

Like an animal sensing the kill, Shea went after Kaiser in the third. The Chicagoan was not particularly hurried. He was choosing his spots, swinging a right uppercut, then a left, with Kaiser jabbing out with his left hand. Kaiser was always on the move, jabbing, sometimes feinting with his right and then jabbing with the left again. In the fifth, Kaiser opened a cut over Shea's right eye by his continuing jabbing, mixed with some man-shed wallop. Shea also was bleeding slightly at the nose. Kaiser held his own in this stanza.

Lightweight bout of 10 rounds, which was marred at its conclusion when Terry and Pellegrino exchanged each other warmly. Still, if the boys get a kick out of that sort of thing, should the crowd be so lacking in finer sensibilities as to boo?

Pellegrino's best weapon was a left hook. He used it on Terry until that young man's face was red. After such a left, Terry's left, the fourth, Pellegrino's best round, it appeared that he had Terry on the down grade.

Terry, however, had a faster and more effective weapon in his one-two punch, and this made itself felt in the long run. Terry beat Tony to the punch with his left to the body and right to the jaw. Although Terry's fight was one of the best he has made here in the past year, even if his opponent was not a world beater, Pellegrino had the edge in only two rounds, the fourth and ninth, while the fifth was even.

The card was given an excellent sendoff in a six-round bout between Roy Logsdon of Litchfield, Ill., and Ray Palmer of St. Louis. Logsdon, they say, is a young cut-throat. In any event, outweighed by two pounds, he showed that he had more power than Palmer and wore the latter down before the bout was over. With the exception of the first round, which was Palmer's and the third, which was even, Logsdon won all the way.

Officials Are Surprised at Attendance; Crowding Is in Evidence at Arena Entrances

By W. J. McGoogan
Officials of The Arena were as surprised as everyone else last night, apparently, at the size of the crowd which attended the first boxing show in the building, and as a result there was much crowding and confusion in getting people into the building.

It had been intended to open the doors at 7 o'clock, but before 6:30 o'clock such a crowd had gathered that the doors were opened and from that time on the ticket sellers and takers were swamped.

Oakland avenue was made a one-way street from the east and so many automobiles crowded it that some required 30 minutes to get from Kingshighway to the arena. Those coming in from the west were sent down Clayton road, through Forest Park, over Kingshighway and west on Oakland, causing many to be late.

Brinkman stated that the next show probably would be held the first week in December. He will be made to have Kid Chocolate, Al Singer or Tod Morgan in the headlines.

Brinkman said that many of the wrinkles which developed in handling the crowd last night would be ironed out by the time the next show is held.

HAROLD RUEL MAKES HOLE IN ONE WITHOUT BALL HITTING GREEN

Harold Ruel, catcher for the Washington Senators, and a product of the St. Louis sandlots, holds the record of being the first golfer to make a hole in one at the Crystal Lake Country Club.

The hole-in-one was made with an iron shot off the seventh tee, a distance of 144 yards from the hole. With Ruel were Charles A. Lee, president of Crystal Lake; Lee Krauch, V. E. Jacobsen, C. W. Schnecko and Jay B. Close.

An unusual feature of Ruel's hole-in-one was that the ball landed in the cup without hitting the green. The flag pole was in the cup at the time.

ARMY'S LINE SHOWS MANY WEAK SPOTS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 6.—A scrimmage with the strong plebe team yesterday revealed many weak spots in Army's line. Coach Biff Jones has hopes of strengthening the forward wall before next of last Saturday's game with Illinois at Urbana.

Nagurski's Thumb Injured

CLEVELAND HIGH READY FOR GAME WITH CENTRAL

By Harold Tuthill
The Cleveland High School football eleven went through a strenuous scrimmage with the Jefferson Barracks team on the Soldiers field yesterday, while the regular Roosevelt team was excused from practice. Roosevelt was idle of necessity, since a majority of the Rough Riders are hobnobbing around because of injuries received last week in the Soldan game. Roosevelt draws the bye in the league schedule Saturday.

Cleveland's hope for a championship team were dispelled by the 6 to 0 defeat handed it by its neighbor, but the possibility of tying for the title with Soldan has instilled new courage in the Carondelet school. Ralph Price is the only stilling member of the squad and he is expected to be in shape to start against Central Saturday.

There is little probability that Coach Bert E. Feneberg will change the lineup that opened the season. Coach Lee R. Carlson turned his attention to the second and third Roosevelt teams yesterday. The second team was easily best, scoring four touchdowns in a short time.

Although the list of injuries to the Roosevelt regulars is long, there is none so seriously hurt that he will miss the remaining games.

TWO MISSOURI REGULARS OUT OF GAME HERE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 6.—An announcement today by Coach Gwynn Henry that "Big Jim" Baker, 200-pound tackle, had suffered injuries in practice yesterday that would hold him out of the Missouri lineup in the Washington game at St. Louis Saturday, means that two Missouri regulars will be out of the game. Baker is suffering from an injured knee and Ray Smith, veteran center, also will likely be out of the lineup with an injured foot received in the Kansas Aggie game Saturday.

Henry today was undecided whether he would replace Smith with Captain Waldorf, who plays any position on the "Tiger eleven," or with Lawrence McCaulley, reserve center.

The University of Missouri band of 37 pieces will precede the Missouri gridiron squad of 40 men to St. Louis tomorrow night, Athletic Director Brewer announced today. They will visit Cleveland, Roosevelt, Beaumont, Central and Soldan high schools for concerts Friday.

President Stratton D. Brooks of the university, Dr. Brewer, Dr. H. J. Huff and R. L. Hill, alumni rector, will depart for St. Louis Friday to attend a Missouri University alumni meeting and football rally to be held at the Coronado Friday night.

PRO GOLFER'S MEET MONDAY TO SELECT 1930 TOURNEY SITE

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 6.—The annual meeting of the Professional Golfers Association will be held here Nov. 11 and 12, it was announced today.

Among the matters to be discussed is the selection of the place for the 1930 P. G. A. tournament.

COMISKY TO CONFER WITH BUSH TODAY ON REBUILDING WHITE SOX

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Baseball's "Old Roman," Charles A. Comiskey, arranged a huddle with his new manager, Donie Bush, today to map out their campaign to rebuild the White Sox.

Although 10 minor league stars, including Speed Valley of the San Francisco Seals, have been purchased already, Comiskey promises more purchases. It is known the White Sox are in the market for a second baseman who can do some heavy hitting, a catcher, another heavy clouting outfielder and a pair of steady pitchers.

The "Old Roman" refused to discuss current reports he was after Mark Koenig, the Yankee shortstop, and that he planned to send Bill Cissell, his high-priced shortstop, to Washington in exchange for a right-handed pitcher, possibly Irving Hadley.

LANDIS TO REPRIMAND BARNSTORMERS WHO DO NOT FULFILL DATES

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, threatens to "say something of importance" about barnstorming players who advertise themselves and then do not appear to play when he attends the National League meeting at Chattanooga, Tenn., next month.

"I haven't received any formal protests yet," he said, "but I may have something of importance to say at the meeting."

GRID GAME WINNER TO RECEIVE SET OF BOOKS

By the Associated Press.
APLINGTON, Wis., Nov. 5.—To the victor of the Lawrence-Ripon football game Saturday will go a set of books, Scientific Treatises, valued at more than $4000. It was learned yesterday that the books, a limited edition of the Smithsonian Institution series, will be placed in the library of the winning college by an anonymous donor.

Gore Wins Bout

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6.—Dick Gore, 148½, Jacksonville, scored an unimpressive 10-round victory over Jimmy Decapua, 147, of Flint, Mich., here last night.

Three former stars are awaiting the coaches in directing eleven. Gus Cianciola, Mike Barnhouse and Alex Monteth, all tackles, are in training at Cleveland, Beaumont and Roosevelt, respectively.

With the variety on the defensive, the plebes broke through the line for consecutive gains of 8, 12 and 12 yards. On the next play the plebes used the forward pass to get down to the variety 15-yard line. Here the first string team held and the plebes could gain no ground at all. Carver was at the first string quarterback post yesterday in place of Glibner.

Nagurski's Thumb Injured
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 6.—Bronko Nagurski, star University of Minnesota fullback, will play against Iowa next Saturday at Iowa City with a broken thumb on his left hand. ## Oklahoma Uses New Plays for Kansas Battle

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6.—The strain of having a team undefeated in the Conference and facing three hard games before the season is completed, apparently is making Coach Ad Lindsey at Oklahoma somewhat flighty.

Lindsey wasn't pleased yesterday with the way his variety, scrumming against the Norman High School. He shifted the men around, tried to smooth out a few plays, and finally as darkness fell, he had the pleasure of seeing the first string boys sweep through a set of plays in nearly perfect style.

"Bo" McMillin at the Kansas Aggie is trying to make halfbacks out of ailer and Hardtacker, former ends, so as to have replacements for his shattered backfield. Freeman, Tucker and Tackwell—three variety linemen who have been on the casualty list—were out for dummy scrimmage.

The Jayhawk gridsters heard from coaches what they should do and then put it into practice. They continued their drill for the Oklahoma tangle Saturday. Indications point to a lineup to start against the Sooners which will be somewhat different from the last line-up at Nebraska. The Kansas freshmen continued practice for their game here Saturday with the Kansas Aggie yardlings.

Nebraska's daily work was confined to a chalk talk indoors.

Will Be Interesting Game.
There is an impression abroad that tonight's scrap will be one of the most interesting of the season. The youngsters of both teams will have their only chance to shine and it is certain full advantage will be taken of that chance. The followers of the collegiate fortunes of both universities, with their eyes on next year, will give the opportunity to judge just how much and how good material will be at the disposal of Coaches Anderson and Sharpe a year from now.

Lack of competition has added to the interest for the reason that whatever happens will be in the nature of a surprise. The young Billiken appear to be a heavier combination than that of the Bear Cubs but whether they have other advantages or are just bigger, can be told only tonight after the whistle blows.

Both on the line and in the backfield, Browning's boys bulk bigger and it may be that craft rather than power will have to be the Washington medium of attack.

Alexander Real Star.
One of the stars of the St. Louis team is Alexander, the big blond center who, in scrimmages with the Billiken varsity, has shown he could hold his own all season. The heaviest Junior Billiken will be the Bear Cub's weightiest regular man, plays right tackle, also, and weighs 194. Galloway, a 235-pound Cub, may get in at right guard.

Practically every man on both freshmen teams tonight has started in prep school. Certainly every man of them is a potential 1930 varsity man.

A good fight and a clean one, ended with interest, is promised.

AX IS EXPECTED TO START GAME AGAINST TIGERS

Still somewhat battered but much in the ring, so far as Missouri is concerned, the Washington Bears have been a bit perked in their preparation by the absence of some of the first-stringers who required poultices than the others.

And, speaking of one of the suits of the Carnegie game, it is the case of Bert Springer, considered quite par as a back, Springer was shelved at the first few games only to appear as an end against the Tartans.

With the possible exception of a work might not have been the form-fitness of an experienced end—as a matter of fact, it didn't—but he was a tough man to play and, as Dr. Sharpe said today, "Show me a man who could do better against Carnegie than Springer did and I'll use him gladly."

The kicking problem is the latest to rise to give Coach Sharpe some trouble. It is not at all certain that Hearnby will be against Missouri. On the other hand, it is quite probable that he will begin operations as fulfilled. If that is so, either Springer or Rawdon will do the punting. Springer could be moved back from end for this purpose. Rawdon's kicking a year ago was one of the features of the Bears' game.

With the possible exception of Hornsby, every man who started against Carnegie will start against Missouri. It is not likely that the team, as a team, will be given extended scrimmage work this week. They had quite a satisfactory workout last Saturday.

However, today, as many regulars as turn out and are free of nearly free from bruises will be tossed into action, probably against the second varsity, as the Freshman play tonight.

It was announced that Gov. Canfield would be present at the game, which will start Saturday at 2 p. m.

Dartmouth Star Who Is Lost for Rest of Season

AL MARSTERS.

By the Associated Press.

AL MARSTERS, N. H., Nov. 6.—Al Marsters, star Dartmouth back, lay in a hospital out here today, his college football career a thing of the past. He received a fractured vertebra Saturday in the Yale game.

As described by Dr. John S. F. Gile, Marsters sustained a fracture of the right transverse process at the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae. Dr. Gile said that the injury would have no permanent effect on the player, but it will keep him either in the infirmary or on the sidelines while his team plays Brown, Cornell and the Navy. The doctor said he was resting comfortably and would be allowed to resume his classroom work soon. This is the star's senior year.

Sixteen years ago Marsters flashed on the gridiron horizon as a half-back. A big year was looked forward to for 1928, but an ankle injury kept him below par.

This year Marsters was the basis of the entire Dartmouth attack. He was shifted to quarterback.

In the six games Dartmouth has played this year, "Special Delivery" Al had scored 103 points. His performances against Yale and Harvard were especially brilliant. He was one of the outstanding broken field runners, great forward passer and a good punter.

SALINSKY STARS FOR BILLIKENS IN SCRIMMAGE WORK

By Glen McDonald

While the Billiken freshmen were taking it easy and polishing off their plays for the game with the Washington University yearlings tonight at Francis Field, the varsity held a scrimmage which started early and lasted till dark.

It was the first time this year that Coach Heartley Anderson divided up the varsity squad and sent the Billikens through a scrimmage against themselves.

Several of the regulars, including Capt. Joe Lintanich, Charlie Eaton and Tony Kimmell in the backfield, and Titus Cornell, Gene Schwartz, Cecil Muellerleile and every line he carried the ball. Dealing in the scrimmage, but the other members of the squad had plenty of chance to show their ability.

Coach Anderson sent a backfield composed of Charley McKinney, quarterback, Charlie Flanagan and "Pido" Murphy, halves, and Charlie Walsh, fullback, against his first string line. Flanagan and Walsh started working with the freshmen last week and transferred over to the varsity squads yesterday in order to give the Billiken line some chance to get in their regular Wednesday scrimmage.

Bill Salinsky, stocky little full-back and understudy of Capt. Joe Lintanich, however, was the best looking back on the field. He played his usual line smashing game, hitting the second team's line for substantial gains practically every time he carried the ball. Defensively he stopped everything that came his way.

New Ends Are Improving.

Frank Kennedy and Sylvester McIntosh, two of the fastest coming ends on the squad, were at the wing positions on the first team. Both players have improved steadily since the beginning of the season and will probably be playing regularly before long. Kennedy recovered the Coe fumble this won Saturday's game and McIntosh has been used in the last two games and has developed into a fair kicker.

Fred Fox, in the absence of Titus Cornell, was stationed at left tackle, and Fred Joseph was back at his regular place at right tackle. Rufus Schultz took Fox's place for a part of the time and played the same hard game that he showed against Coe.

Marion Antoon and Eddie Brown were at the guards and Jack Corcoran played center. Earl Naldorf, Jack Joyce and Jack DeChristoforo were in the backfield with the Salinsky, and this quartet, despite the fact that they were playing against two former All-Americans, scored twice while they were holding their opponents to one touchdown. After Walsh had scored a touchdown following a series of passes thrown by Flanagan, the first squad took the pigskin on its own 20-yard mark and marched straight down the field, Salinsky scoring on a line buck.

The second team was strengthened by the presence of Vic Daubner and Lyle Drury at the ends, Max Newton at right guard and Ed Davidson at center. Naldorf scored the second touchdown on a long run toward the end of the scrimmage.

Crystal City Is Ready for Tilts With Chicagoans

The Crystal City girls' basketball team of the Greater St. Louis League, will go through its final workout at the Crystal High School Gymnasium tonight, in preparation for its games with the Jewish People's Institute five of Chicago at Crystal City, Friday and Saturday nights. Capt. Marie Madison, who was forced out of practice with an injured back last week, is again in the fold but has been doing only light training for the inter-city contests.

Eight players will accompany Coach Emil S. Gollubier and Manager Rose Rodkin on the trip from Chicago. Miss Rae Levine, who last year scored 18 points as the Jewish People's team was downing both of the Schenbergs, 16-17, and more as the Bachelors were being beaten, 17-15, will undoubtedly be the center of attraction to fans who witness the week-end games. However, Chicago basketball critics have been loud in their praise of Anna Goldstein, the 16-year-old forward, and Gertrude Goldstein, her running-mate.

The Crystal City band will entertain the premises with its first indoor concert of the season, opening each program at 7:30 p. m. The games will get under way at 8:15.

Mayor Danks and his staff of city officials will be in attendance. Police Chief Kemp has consented to co-operate with the team's officials in handling traffic and likewise keeping the floor clear for action.

A number of fans will make the trip from St. Louis to see the games. Rival teams in the Greater St. Louis League have purchased blocks of tickets for the inter-city contests.

INDIANAPOLIS O. D. P. BOSS, CANDIDATE BEATEN, RETIRES.

George V. Coffin Beaten Duval and Jackson; Reginald Sullivan, Democrat, New Mayor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—Following defeat of the Republican candidate for Mayor in yesterday's city election, George V. Coffin, Republican city and district chairman, announced his retirement from politics.

Coffin's leadership of the Republicans was made a campaign issue by the Democrats. They contended that it was under his guidance four years ago that John L. Duval was elected Mayor of Indianapolis and in 1924 that Ed Jackson was elected Governor of Indiana.

Duval later was convicted of violating the corrupt practices act, and now has an appeal pending. Jackson was indicted while in office on a bribery charge but was directed verdict of acquittal following a plea that the statute of limitations barred his prosecution. Coffin was indicted with Jackson but the charge was dismissed after the State's case against Jackson failed.

Reginald Sullivan, an attorney, was elected Mayor, defeating Alfred M. Glassburner, Republican, by a two to one ratio.

Democrats won surprising victories throughout the State, winning city elections in South Bend, Terre Haute, Fort Wayne, Anderson, Evansville, Muncie, Newcastle, Peru, Washington, Bedford, Elkhart, Madison, Frankfort, Laporte, Franklin, Vincennes, Jeffersonville and New Albany and several smaller places.

ARSON CHARGE DISMISSED AGAINST BRENTWOOD PLUMBER

Case of William F. Flagg Dropped Because of Insufficient Evidence.

An arson charge against William F. Flagg, Brentwood plumbing contractor, near whose home at 1840 Helen avenue the burned body of John L. Roberts was found after the house had been destroyed by fire last May 12, was nolle prossed by Prosecuting Attorney Castien today when the case was called for trial before Circuit Judge Lashly at Clayton.

Castien said there was not sufficient evidence, testimony of witnesses at a coroner's inquest being inadmissible in Circuit Court. Mrs. Roberts, 1108 Braxton avenue, told a coroner's jury that Flagg had offered her husband $100 to burn Flagg's home. A friend, Thomas Dowd, 1710 Wash street, testified that Roberts had asked him "how to burn down a house," telling him that he had a friend who wanted to clear his property of incumbrances in that manner.

The loss of Flagg's residence and contents was estimated at $7000.

WORKMAN WHOSE BACK WAS BROKEN, GETS $40,000 AWARD

Victim of Practical Joker Hurled Through Defective Door Down Elevator Shaft.

A verdict of $40,000 damages was awarded today to Paul Wack, injured laborer of 3923 Ohio avenue, who said he was victim of a practical joker played by a fellow employee of the F. E. Schoenbers Mfg. Co. 3923 De Kalb street.

Wack testified that, Aug. 16, 1926, a man employed by the company, who was known as a practical joker, jumped on his back, forcing him against a defective elevator shaft door, which opened, precipitating both to the basement. Wack's back was broken.

Circuit Judge Green ruled that the jury could not, under the law, consider the company responsible said was stolen from him when for the practical joke of the employee, but that it was responsible if the elevator shaft door was defective, which the company denied. This is the second trial of the case. The first trial resulted in a jury disagreement.

List Price. The f.o.b. price advertised by the factory.

Accessories. A charge for any additional accessories that may be purchased.

about automobile prices

THERE is a difference between the list (f.o.b.) price of a new automobile and the price you pay the dealer.

What makes that difference?

General Motors dealers tell you frankly on their standard price tag. You see exactly what you are paying for freight and delivery, for additional accessories that may be desired.

Nothing is hidden. Nothing is added. There is no extra charge to permit a seemingly better trade-in offer. There is no extra charge to cover advertising, etc. The tag tells all.

Make this tag your guide, in comparing automobile values. Look beyond the list price. Find out what is added by the dealer to make up the delivered price. For it is the delivered price that you pay.

THE BISHOP MURDER CASE

A PHIL VANCE DETECTIVE STORY
By S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER 32.

THE death of a curiously disturbing effect on Vance. He stared at Markham unbelievably. Then he rang hastily for Currie and ordered his clothes and a cup of coffee. There was an eager impatience in his movements as he dressed.

"My word, Markham!" he exclaimed. "This is most extraordinary. How did you hear of it?"

"Prof. Dillard phoned me at my apartment less than half an hour ago. Pardee killed himself in the archery-room of the Dillard home some time last night. Fyne discovered the body this morning and informed the professor. I relayed the news to Sergeant Heath, and then came here. In the circumstances I thought we ought to be on hand."

Markham paused to light his cigar. "It looks as if the Bishop case was over... Not an entirely satisfactory ending, but perhaps the best for every one concerned."

Vance made no immediate comment. He slipped his coffee abstractedly, and at length got up and took his hat and stick.

"Guide," he murmured, as he went down the stairs. "Yes, that would be wholly consistent. But, as you say, unsatisfactory—dashed unsatisfactory."

We rode to the Dillard house, and were admitted by Fyne. Prof. Dillard had no more than joined us in the drawing room when the door-bell rang and Heath, punctuated and dynamic, bustled in.

"He'll clean things up, sir," he exclaimed to Markham, after the usual ritualistic handshake. "Those quiet birds... you never can tell. Yet, who'd have thought?"

"Oh, I say, Sergeant," Vance drawled, "let's not think. Much too wearin'." An open mind—ard like a desert—is indicated.

Prof. Dillard led the way to the archery room. The shades at all the windows were drawn, and the electric lights were still burning. I noticed, too, that the windows were closed.

"I left everything exactly as it was," explained the professor. Markham walked to the large wicker center-table. Pardee's body was slumped in a chair facing the range door. His head and shoulders had fallen forward over the table; and his right arm hung at his side, the fingers still clutching an automatic pistol.

Our eyes rested but a moment on the body, for a startling and incongruous thing diverted our attention. The magazines on the table had been pushed aside, leaving an open space in front of the body, and in this cleared area rose a tall and beautifully constructed house of playing cards. Four aces marked the boundaries of the yard, and matches had been laid side by side to represent the garden walks. It was a reproduction that would have delighted a child's heart; and I recalled that Vance had said the night before about serious minds seeking recreation in children's games. There was something utterly horrible in the juxtaposition of this juvenile card structure and violent death.

Vance stood looking down at the scene with sad, troubled eyes. "He jactet John Pardee," he murmured, with a sort of reverence. "And this is the house that Jack built—a house of cards."

HE stepped forward as if to inspect it more closely, but as his body struck the edge of the table there was a slight jar, and the flimsy edifice of cards toppled over.

Markham drew himself up and turned to Heath. "Have you notified the Medical Examiner?"

"Sure." The Sergeant seemed to find it difficult to take his eyes from the table. "And Burke's coming along in case we need him." He went to the windows and threw up the shades, letting in the bright daylight. Then he returned to Pardee's body and stood regarding it appraisingly. Suddenly he knelt down and leaned over.

"That looks to me like the 33 that was in the tool-chest," he remarked. "Undoubtedly," nodded Vance, taking out his cigarettes—case. Heath rose and going to the chest, inspected the contents of its drawer. "I guess that's it, all right. We'll get Miss Dillard to identify it after the doc has been here."

At this moment Arneson, clothed in a brilliant red-and-yellow dressing-gown, burst excitedly into the room.

"By all the wicks," he exclaimed, "Fyne just told me the news." He came to the table and stared at Pardee's body. "Suicide, eh? But why didn't he shoot his own home for the performance? Damned inconsiderate of him to mope up some one else's house this way. Just like a chess player." He lifted his eyes to Markham. "Hope this won't involve us in more unpleasantness. We've had enough already. Distract the mind. When'll you be able to take the beggar's remains away? Don't want Belle to see him."

"The body will be removed as soon as the Medical Examiner has seen it," Markham told him in a tone of frosty rebuke. "And there will be no necessity to bring Miss Dillard here."

"Good." Arneson still stood staring at the dead man. Slowly a look of cynical witfulness came over his face. "Poor devil! Life was too much for him. Hyperactive—no psychic stamina. Took things too seriously. Brooded over his fate ever since his gambit went up in smoke. Couldn't find any other diversion. The black bishop haunted him; probably tipped his mind from its axis. By Gadi! Wouldn't be surprised if the idea drove him to self-destruction. Might have imagined he was a chess bishop—trying to get back at the world in the guise of his nemesis."

"Clever idea," returned Vance. "By the by, there was a house of cards on the table when we first saw it."

"Hut I wondered what the cards were doing there. Thought he might have sought solace in solitaire during his last moments... A card house, eh? Sounds foolish. Do you know the answer?"

"Not all of it. The house that Jack built might explain something."

And he went upstairs. "Sigurd's always protecting himself against his emotions. He's ashamed of his feelings. Don't take his careless attitude too seriously."

BEFORE Markham could make a reply Fyne ushered Detective Burke into the room; and Vance took the opportunity of questioning the butler about his discovery of Pardee.

"How did it happen you entered the archery-room this morning?" he asked.

"No, sir—not in this room."

"How about the windows?"

"I always leave them slightly open from the top at night."

"Were they left open last night?"

"Yes, sir."

"Very good. And after you opened the door this morning?"

"I started to put out the lights, thinking Miss Dillard had forgotten to turn the switch last night; but just then I saw the poor gentleman there at the table, and went straight up and informed Professor Dillard."

"Does Beedie know about the tragedy?"

"I told her of it right after you gentlemen arrived."

"What time did you and Beedie retire last night?"

"When Fyne had left us Markham addressed Professor Dillard.

"It might be well for you to give us what details you can while we're waiting for Doctor Doremus. Shall we go upstairs?"

Burke remained in the archery-room, and the rest of us went to the library.

"I'm afraid there's little I can tell you," the professor began, settling himself and taking out his pipe. There was a noticeable reserve in his manner—a kind of detached reluctance. "Pardee came here last night after dinner, ostensibly to chat with Arneson, but actually, I imagine, to see Belle. He, however, excused herself early and went to bed—the child had a bad headache—and Pardee remained alone about half past eleven. Then he went out; and that was the last I saw of him until Fyne brought me the terrible news this morning."

"But it?" put in Vance. "Mr. Pardee came to see your niece, how do you account for his staying so late after she had retired?"

"I don't account for it." The old man exhibited perplexity. "He gave the impression, though, that there was something on his mind and that he desired a sense of human contact. The fact is, I had to hint rather broadly about being tired before he finally got up to go."

"Where was Mr. Arneson during the evening?"

"Sigurd remained here talking with us for an hour or so after Belle had retired, and then went to bed. He'd been busy with Druke's affairs all afternoon, and was played out."

"That looks to me like the 33 that was in the tool-chest," he remarked. "Undoubtedly," nodded Vance, taking out his cigarettes—case. Heath rose and going to the chest, inspected the contents of its drawer. "I guess that's it, all right. We'll get Miss Dillard to identify it after the doc has been here."

"I don't account for it." The old man exhibited perplexity. "He gave the impression, though, that there was something on his mind and that he desired a sense of human contact. The fact is, I had to hint rather broadly about being tired before he finally got up to go."

"Where was Mr. Arneson during the evening?"

"Sigurd remained here talking with us for an hour or so after Belle had retired, and then went to bed. He'd been busy with Druke's affairs all afternoon, and was played out."

"That looks to me like the 33 that was in the tool-chest," he remarked. "Undoubtedly," nodded Vance, taking out his cigarettes—case. Heath rose and going to the chest, inspected the contents of its drawer. "I guess that's it, all right. We'll get Miss Dillard to identify it after the doc has been here."

At this moment Arneson, clothed in a brilliant red-and-yellow dressing-gown, burst excitedly into the room.

"By all the wicks," he exclaimed, "Fyne just told me the news." He came to the table and stared at Pardee's body. "Suicide, eh? But why didn't he shoot his own home for the performance? Damned inconsiderate of him to mope up some one else's house this way. Just like a chess player." He lifted his eyes to Markham. "Hope this won't involve us in more unpleasantness. We've had enough already. Distract the mind. When'll you be able to take the beggar's remains away? Don't want Belle to see him."

"The body will be removed as soon as the Medical Examiner has seen it," Markham told him in a tone of frosty rebuke. "And there will be no necessity to bring Miss Dillard here."

"Good." Arneson still stood staring at the dead man. Slowly a look of cynical witfulness came over his face. "Poor devil! Life was too much for him. Hyperactive—no psychic stamina. Took things too seriously. Brooded over his fate ever since his gambit went up in smoke. Couldn't find any other diversion. The black bishop haunted him; probably tipped his mind from its axis. By Gadi! Wouldn't be surprised if the idea drove him to self-destruction. Might have imagined he was a chess bishop—trying to get back at the world in the guise of his nemesis."

"Clever idea," returned Vance. "By the by, there was a house of cards on the table when we first saw it."

"Hut I wondered what the cards were doing there. Thought he might have sought solace in solitaire during his last moments... A card house, eh? Sounds foolish. Do you know the answer?"

"Not all of it. The house that Jack built might explain something."

"I see," Arneson looked on. "Playing children's games to the end—even on himself. Queer notion." He yawned cavernously. "Guess I'll get some clothes on."

And he went upstairs. "Sigurd's always protecting himself against his emotions. He's ashamed of his feelings. Don't take his careless attitude too seriously."

BEFORE Markham could make a reply Fyne ushered Detective Burke into the room; and Vance took the opportunity of questioning the butler about his discovery of Pardee.

"How did it happen you entered the archery-room this morning?" he asked.

"It's not customary to draw the shades at night, then?"

"No, sir—not in this room."

CHARMING THE GAME

Prof. Einstein may be a master-mathematician; but, even he cannot tell you how many years a bright girl can add to twenty, will go on being "just eighteen."

When a girl closes her eyes and sighs, it is not a sign that she is happy, but merely that she is trying to warm over the memory of some man's kiss.

You can usually discover whether a man is "your kind" or not by his reaction to a beautiful sunset—whether it inspires him to love, makes him talk real estate, or only reminds him that it's the most dinner time.

To a man, the most interesting woman in the world, is the one who falls in love with him, every now and then—not the one who remains in love with him all the time.

The woman, who charms a man with her cooking, is not the one who serves him a fancy seven-course dinner, but the one who broils a steak so temptingly, that he forgets that there is such a thing as the world as pate de foies gras, stuffed celery or an alligator.

When a girl gives her heart to a man, these days, he is rather apt to glance at the price-tag, first.

The Lord may have endowed a man with a face that could be a woman's "dream"; but, at least he has the sense not to paint it so that it looks like a nightmare.

If the skirts keep "going down," the street cleaning department will soon be looting back and smiling in its sleeve, while the men sweep up Main Street, and the reformers will be saving against germ-catchers instead of against man-catchers.

It is a man's duty to society, to marry; a bigamist is merely a man who insists on overdoing this duty.

NATURE'S SECRET—THE DIAMOND.

By Colin G. Welles, Ph. D.

Diamonds could be made by the local druggist or baked in big heat furnaces, they would be as precious to us than they now are, for all their glittering rainbow flashing.

Like the ancients, whose passion was to make gold from baser metals, modern scientists who have been able to make almost everything conceivable artificially, from penicillin to penicillin, have striven to make diamonds as well.

But after years of experiment and study nature's recipe for diamonds is still as much of a secret as ever. Excepting for some small diamonds which looked like diamonds, but about which there is a grave scientific dispute, the secret has been fruitless.

There are, there are probably plenty of diamonds in the world and used for artificial ones, but the diamond fields are owned by a few corporations which have the intention of producing so many diamonds that they become cheap. And as the tiny crystals which Henry Moissan obtained by using pure iron with sugar charcoal in an electric furnace, and admitting the method made in water, are not improved upon, diamonds will have vanished into thin air.

We know, too, that we can make diamonds—just once the diamond has been changed into graphite, it cannot be changed back into diamond again.

The principal diamond fields of the world are those of South Africa and Brazil. Brazil producing harder but less brilliant stones. The diamonds are found in river glacial gravel or from "blue ground" in mines.

The famous diamonds of the world are owned by European crowns. The British crown owns the Kohinoor, a large diamond that is said to have weighed 793 carats, but has been so often recut that it now weighs 104. The history of the Kohinoor is known as far back as 1304. The Orloff diamond was owned by the Russian Czar, the Regent diamond is owned by France. It was said to have been sold by a slave of India to an English sea captain who sold it to the Duke of Orleans.

HOW TO MAKE ICES AND SHERBETS

WATER ices and sherbets that stand up as well as ice cream, instead of collapsing to a watery syrup when served, are usually made with care in using the right amount and kind of sugar with the right degree of "overrun."

Declares Dr. A. C. Dahlberg, head of the dairy laboratory at the State Experiment Station at Geneva, N. Y., in recent publication describing experiments conducted in the laboratory.

It was found in the station tests that an overrun of 20 to 30 per cent resulted in a product that would stand up as well as ice cream, while a mixture of cane or beet sugar with corn sugar in proper proportions overcame the tendency of the exposed surface of the sherbet or ice to become badly hard during storage. A report of Dr. Dahlberg's report on these studies may be had free of charge upon request to the station.

"The hardness of water ices and sherbets was influenced to the greatest extent by the percentage of air which they contained and to a lesser extent by the percentage of sugar," says Dr. A. C. Dahlberg, head of the Dairy Division at the station, describing the experiments. "A hardness comparable to that of ice cream at the same temperature was obtained with 20 to 30 per cent overrun and 30 to 35 per cent sugar."

"The unfrozen syrup in water ices and sherbets drains out during storage unless some material is present to prevent it. In our tests, a concentration of 0.3 per cent, combined with milk solids or gelatin, proved to be the best material for this purpose."

"Also, a mixture of cane sugar and corn sugar in the proportion of 25 pounds of the former and 7 pounds of the latter per 100 pounds of mixture checked excessive hardening."

The Great Open Spaces Are FULL of BUNK!

By Peter B. Kyne

ALTHOUGH my eyes first opened on cows in quantity and I flatter myself that I know a great deal about them and their home life, I must confess my utter ignorance of that well-known fiction character who is the cowgirl. She is a type I have never met.

The cowboy is still a very definite person in certain parts of California, but his rugged individuality scarcely measures up to fiction ideals. Restricted socially as he is by reason of his isolation on lonely ranches, he runs quite generally to a type. He is grave or grumpy, humorous and not talkative except on subjects very close to his heart. He dresses without ostentation, except at a rodeo, when his good nature indicates that he co-operates with the local Chamber of Commerce by attending in all of the regalia (sans lethal weapons) popularized by the writers of cheap Western fiction. He doesn't mind stepping out of his class for a couple of days to help our boosters give the visiting brethren from points East a thrill. He knows what they want, and, being a good fellow, he likes to give it to them. So he rides disrespectful horses he wouldn't think of keeping in his own string at the ranch; and because, on Sundays at the ranch, he rides active steers and bulldozes them for his own amusement, he thinks it's good business to do it for money at a roundup. But no cowboy cares to top a mean horse unless to break him; if the horse refuses to be gentle he is of no use on a ranch and is sold for chicken feed.

THE so-called cowgirl, I think, is an outgrowth of the rodeo business, which, like the dude ranch, has come to be a form of Western entertainment for the benefit of tourists. For quite some time women have been encroaching on man's sphere of activities, so it was quite natural for some husky young women, ranch raised, to step into hair pants and gallop hats and compete in the rodeo business. Some of them are really good, too. I think, however, that nine-tenths of them are there out of vanity. They think they appear real cute in the cowboy attire of alleged Western romance. The cowgirl of fiction, however, is something I still have to see on a cattle ranch. I have cowman friends whose daughters ride, without effort or fear, horses that would never do on the bridge paths in Central Park. They demand life in their mounts, but not mean-ness, although they ride well enough to stick in the saddle when their mounts, on frosty mornings, do their ordinary daily dozen before settling down to the day's work. I have seen such young women helping on a cattle drive, and I have seen some that were dainty and pretty, and some were sun tanned and plain with features of beauty aids. But I have never seen one that was not a product of a high school at least, and all have appeared quite content with the social amenities. They are as good looking or as homely as the average run of young women in other walks of life, with the average disposition of the average girl anywhere. I have never known one to shoot a pistol except at a target, but I have known them to be cracking good shots and shooting, which is the rule rather than the exception in the lives of ranch-bred people, who quite generally do a lot of quail, duck and deer shooting.

I SHOULD say that the cowgirl of fiction is a figment of the imagination of young gentlemen who still believe there is considerable open territory just west of the Hudson River. As a type she has never existed any more than the easy-going killer type of cowboy popularized by the motion picture. The cow business is a business, with no room in it for crazy shenanigans. If anybody wants to start them on a ranch the riding boss will just give him a gentle scolding on the shoulder with a pay check and start him down the road in peace. Of course if he decides not to go in peace, he can go in sections, but—he'll go.

Time, tradition and editors—yes, and the public—demand that

There used to be a tradition in San Francisco that our girls were the most beautiful in the world. I heard of it when I was a boy, but I never believed it. I was a boy of the Puget Sound country and the loveliest complexion, due to the fog. I do not hear this any more. Beauty shops have killed it and reduced beauty to a common level in all sections.

There is, in San Francisco, a firm that has had the reputation for 40 years of manufacturing the best stock saddles in the West. In fact, they manufacture everything connected with the proper caparisoning of a cow horse, and that includes chaps. A large part of their trade now is with society men and women for whom they make fancy chaps and stock saddles. It seems to me they have altered these conditions. They do not hear this any more. Beauty shops have killed it and reduced beauty to a common level in all sections.

When your boy is indifferent as to his class standing there is a reason for it. If he gets poor marks in his study there is a reason for it. These reasons are many. Laziness, worry, fear, jealousy, mental inferiority are a few of them. The physical condition of the child may be a handicap, but the emotional life of a child has a strong bearing upon educational ability. There are innumerable situations and problems in the life of a child that may retard his school progress, and often just a getting together of parent and teacher will lead to the discovery of the reason and will turn out the whole difficulty.

Do not expect the impossible from your child, and before demanding anything have that talk with the teacher. Every child should make progress in school. You have a right to expect this, and when he fails to do so the wise parent will take immediate action. Being wise, this parent will know that the best chance for getting at the root of the difficulty and helping the school child is by co-operating with the teacher.

are getting more and more into the movie tradition, although I have heard some gossip to the effect that we have quite a few dude ranches in California now.

Well, boys will be synthetic cowboys and girls will be synthetic cowgirls, I suppose. There must be some romance about this new game, and where there is romance there will always be folk to distort it in words and greatly increase the specific gravity or flash test. While I shall never fall so low as to create an ugly heroine or a coarse one, nevertheless I shall be honest and maintain with my last expiring breath that, as regards the fictional cowgirl, there ain't no such, and that the daughters of ranchers are peaches or oil cans, depending entirely on how your luck runs.

There is this to be said about the cowman's daughter, however: She can catch her own horse and saddle him and top him and stay there without screaming if he act a bit uppity. She knows horses and is not afraid of cows or bulls on the peck or dogs that rush suddenly and ferociously at one from under the barn. Hiding geese who know not, and a belligerent billy-dog is extremely liable to be flopped heavily with a rib-cracking jolt. Yes, she has courage—according to the code in thickly populated centers; but on the ranch it's all in the day's work and if she flunked it paw would give her hell and the boys over at the bunkhouse would kick her gently for quite a while, what with the perennial scarcity of conversational topics.

PROBABLY all that would put a stop to it would be the shades of night and the old man giving them permission to take the Ford truck and run into town to the movies, particularly if Felix the Cat was showing at the local cinema palace. But if one of them Westerns was on—well, honestly now, folks, I'll tell you. In that event there's nothing to do but go to the local speakeasy and wrap yourself around a couple of neg-gins of panther juice and listen to the movie tradition, although I have heard some gossip to the effect that we have quite a few dude ranches in California now.

Daily Story FOR CHILDREN

FIRST IN THE AIR

JOHN and Peggy stayed with the Little Black Clock and saw the queer little birds become used to the land. Then they saw more odd reptiles and suddenly John noticed something.

"There's one that looks as if it had wings," he told the Little Black Clock.

"The first to fly," the Little Black Clock said. "You must know I'm turning myself rapidly around now. Even though I have turned the time away, way back to the beginning of things, there were great amounts of time between the first arrivals and the next arrivals and the ones were coming now."

"We're seeing the first birds," the creatures tried their wings. It was thrilling to watch them. It seemed as though they had grown a little weary of crawling around on the ground and had thought of the beautiful air above them.

They were not particularly lovely. They looked more like bats than the kinds of birds John and Peggy knew.

But they were actually flying. It seemed very, very brave of them to try to fly, and clever of them to manage it!

The Little Black Clock seemed to be thinking of something else—and, indeed, he was busy once more turning the time on a little further and further until right before their very eyes they beheld several of the largest and most curious creatures they'd ever seen.

And yet there was something that looked rather familiar about them.

"I know!" said John in answer to his own thought. "The museum has come right out into the open. I've seen those creatures in museums, I'm sure."

Opening Declines Run to $15, but Many Issues Convert Losses Into Net Gains of $2 to $18.

172,700 SHARES SOLD IN 3 HOURS

Brokers' Loans Show Decrease of $656,000,000 as Compared With Preceding Week.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Breaking sharply to new low ground on that appeared to be further down, stock prices thereupon rallied in spectacular fashion, wiping out most of the early declines of $5 to nearly $15 a share in the lead issues, and converting many of them into gains ranging from $2 to $18 a share. It was one of the most impressive recoveries in the current "bear" market started with the disastrous break of Oct. 29.

Directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank at their weekly meeting today announced no change in the discount rate of 6 per cent.

Loans Decrease $656,000,000. Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve banks for the week ending Nov. 6 were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $82,000,000, representing a decrease of $656,000,000 as compared with the preceding week. Analysis of the report shows loans for own account decreased $549,000,000, for account of out-town banks fell $42,000,000 and loans for account of others decreased $65,000,000.

In its figures made public today the board revised those for the last week and for the account of out-town banks given others. The figures announced last week showed loans for the account of out-town banks to have been $1,026,000,000 and the figures for the account of others as $2,090,000. The total was not affected.

Any brokers accepted the buying support which came to the market after the first try of selling had subsided as evidence that the market had "trunk bottom," at least for the being. The rally started before the end of the first hour and continued through to the close, although final prices showed some concessions from the day's high.

In accordance with the ruling opening of trading Monday, today's session of the New York Stock Exchange was limited to three hours, closing at 1 p. m. before the close, the ticker reported as 72 minutes late.

Reports that the usual late rush of trading would detract from the printing of the final quotation for about two hours.

The New York Stock Exchange printed the day's final quotation at 2 p. m., two hours after market had closed.

Total Sales 7,172,700 Shares. Total sales for the three-hour session on the New York Stock Exchange were 7,172,700 shares as contrasted with 5,914,740 in the period yesterday.

Steel common was again well-weathered of the market, closing at $17.50 for a net of $1.50. General Electric closed at $114.75, up $5. Erie had a share higher at $24.50, up $5, and New York closed $5.12 higher at $115. Foreign exchanges were generally steady, with the exception of Canadian dollar, which went to 129.25 low at 97.87 1/2 cents, then slipped back to yesterday's level of 94.87 1/2.

Closing stock prices, with the tables and market news, can be found on page 52, 48 and 41.
